It is, or should be, read by several thousand business men who employ labor in many varied forms, and it can be made of great value in giving practical application to Hoo-Hoo's central theme of helping one another. It is hoped the department will receive very careful attention each issue.

Comments on Concatenations.

Cairo, Ill.

The regular annual concatenation at Cairo, Ill., January 28 was the regular Cairo success, which is saying a great deal, as that town is famous for enjoyable Hoo-Hoo meetings. Vicegerent P. T. Langan was assisted by Brother C. D. Rourke, who occupied the station of Junior Hoo-Hoo, and by a number of other prominent members, including Supreme Senior Hoo-Hoo George W. Schwartz. A class of twenty-two was initiated.

Atlanta, Ga.

Vicegerent George E. Youle held his first concatenation at Atlanta, Ga., February 9. Brother E. D. Walsh had charge of the preliminary work, and displayed commendable enthusiasm in rounding up the candidates and getting things in order. Everything passed off pleasantly, and the affair was voted a big success by those present.

Detroit, Mich.

Vicegerent A. J. Carson initiated a nice class at his concatenation in Detroit, Mich., February 3. This was the first meeting that has occurred in Detroit for quite a long time. There were present a number of the old guard, among whom were Brothers Joseph M. Nyles and John J. Marten.

Davenport, Iowa.

Vicegerent Harry V. Scott, who is now serving his second term as a State officer, took advantage of the meeting of the Southeastern Iowa Lumbermen's Retail Association to hold a concatenation at Davenport during the session of that body, February 5 and 6. The concatenation took place February 5, and was followed by a banquet at Elks' Hall. A pleasing feature of the evening's entertainment was the impersonations of Nelson T. Darling, who is a gifted entertainer in that line.

A. J. CARSON,
Vicegerent for Southern District of Michigan.

LUCIUS E. FULLER,
Vicegerent for Northern District of Illinois.

St. Louis, Mo.

Vicegerent A. C. Ramsey held a good concatenation at St. Louis, February 1, initiating a class of fourteen. The "Session on the Roof" took place in the banquet hall of the St. Nicholas Hotel. The following is the menu:

- Cocktail
- Blue Points
- Olives
- Cream of Chicken
- Pilaf of Sole
- Julienne Potato
- Budweiser
- Larded Tenderloin of Beef
- French Peas
- Combination Salad
- Brown Potato
- Ice Cream
- Roquefort Cheese
- Demme Tasse
- Assorted Cakes
- Toasted Crackers
- Cigars
- Radishes

Boston, Mass.

Vicegerent Karl Isburgh's concatenation at Boston, February 7, was, in the estimation of the Supreme Nine, one of the most gratifying events of this Hoo-Hoo year. In view of the fact that the Annual Meeting will be held at Buffalo, it is particularly desired that Hoo-Hoo's interests be extended in the East, a section where the Order has never had a strong following. Pennsylvania has already fallen into line with one most excellent meeting, held by Vicegerent Paul Terhune at Pittsburgh; and the prospects now are very flattering for the establishing of Hoo-Hoo on a firm basis in the New England States. Vicegerent Isburgh's concatenation occurred at the American House, and the initiatory ceremonies were followed by the usual "Session on the Roof," at which the following menu was discussed:

Chicago, Ill.

Vicegerent Lucius E. Fuller distinguished himself by holding on February 11 the first successful concatenation that has occurred in Chicago for some years. The concatenation took place on the second floor of the Athenaeum Building, almost opposite the Victoria Hotel, where the convention of the Illinois Lumber Dealers' Association was being held. After the concatenation, a substantial luncheon was served. The affair was largely attended, fully seventy-five members of the Order showing their interest by their presence. The class initiated numbered eight regular members and one life member.

Hattiesburg, Miss.

Vicegerent John W. Connell's concatenation at Hattiesburg, Miss., February 13, was a fine meeting. Thirty-two men were initiated, and everything passed off most pleasantly. This makes the second exceptionally good concatenation in Mississippi recently. Vicegerent Connell will show a fine record when the history of this year's work is read at the Annual Meeting.

Timpson, Texas.

The report of Vicegerent Kilburn Moore's concatenation at Timpson, Texas, reached us too late to catch the January "Bulletin." Eleven new kittens were added at this meeting. Vicegerent F. G. Snyder, of the Northern District of Louisiana, who has the reputation of being the best Junior Hoo-Hoo in the Southwest, occupied that station, and discharged the duties of the position in his own inimitable way. Brother Cad. H. Beale (No. 400) was Senior Hoo-Hoo. Brother Beale has recently adopted an exclusive diet of buckwheat, and is feeling like a spring chicken.

- Cream of Celery, aux Souffle
- Olives
- Baked Whitefish, Point Shirley Style
- Potatoes Duchess
- Roast Turkey, Cranberry Sauce
- Delmonico Potatoes
- Roman Punch
- Escalloped Oysters
- Apple Fritters, Glace
- Fancy Charlottes
- Banana Ice Cream
- Fruit
- Coffee
- Consomme Julienne
- Radishes
- String Beans
- Assorted Cake

GEO. E. YOULE,
Vicegerent for Northern District of Georgia.

Mobile, Ala.

The concatenation at Mobile, February 4, eclipsed anything that has happened in Alabama Hoo-Hoo circles for a number of years. Vicegerent Cary W. Butt and his able assistants deserve much credit for their energetic efforts in the Order's behalf. The local paper had the following account of the meeting:

"The first Hoo-Hoo concatenation held under the administration of Vicegerent Cary W. Butt was held last night in the ladies' ordinary at the Battle House; and it was not only a great success, but the best concatenation that has been held in Mobile for years.

"There were twenty-four good, healthy kittens who had their eyes opened in the light of Hoo-Hoo.

"The howls and caterwauls which emanated from the ladies' ordinary gave evidence that there was something doing, but the 'Session on the Roof' which followed pacified all those frisky kittens whose tails had been trod on.

"After the initiation was over, the twenty-four new members and all the old ones present were invited into the spacious dining room, where Mr. Stiles had prepared a very appetizing supper of oysters, cold meats, salads, celery, olives, tenderloin of beef, black coffee, and cigars. After full justice had been done to the repast, Snark Butt started the postprandial talk. There were a number of happy talks, anecdotes related and songs sung, and the assembly dispersed after the singlug of 'Auld Lang Syne.'"

Kansas City, Mo.

The mammoth concatenation at Kansas City, January 27, was in line with former "annual" Kansas City meetings. Vicegerent Harry A. Gorsuch had with him a number of the old-line members, though Snark Norris was unable to be present on account of illness, a fact which was greatly regretted.

KARL ISBURGH,
Vicegerent for Massachusetts.

Dallas, Texas.

Vicegerent T. W. Griffiths, Jr., held his second concatenation February 14. He called it a "Valentine party," and it was probably the most enthusiastic celebration St. Valentine ever had offered in his honor. The meeting occurrred at Dallas, and the class, very appropriately, numbered fourteen. Brother J. S. Bonner, affectionately known as "Coal Oil Johnny," acted as Junior. Snark Norris was present. The "Session on the Roof" was quite elaborate, and was greatly enjoyed.

Lost or Stolen.

Hoo-Hoo lapel button No. 9571 has been lost or stolen. This button belongs to F. J. Erfert, 28 South Main street, Helena, Mont., who formerly lived in Milwaukee, Wis.

A Cold Day in Arkansas.

St. Paul, Ark., January 10, 1903.—Milling in this part of the country is rather slow at present on account of bad roads, but we have hopes of its getting better soon. So we simply saw wood and stack our lumber for good roads in the future. However, the bad roads do not seem to affect our noble Order, whose onion beds are always fresh and green, mud or no mud; and prospects are very flattering for a concatenation here in the near future, as there are about fifteen kittens hovering near the garden fence now.

I have been getting "The Bulletin" regularly, and it is a source of much pleasure to me. I never tire of reading about Hoo-Hoo.

You may think by the looks of this letter that I have been to a concatenation lately, or that it was written the day after Christmas; but I will say that the ink has been frozen and the day is so bad I hate to send my wife after more.

Wishing all Hoo-Hoo a prosperous year, I am,
Fraternally yours,
W. C. BAYLES (No. 9172).

Notes and Comments.

Brother A. H. Bailey sends in a newspaper clipping which contains an advertisement of a well-known department store in Chicago, a prominent feature of which advertisement is the headline: "Ever Meet a Jabberwoc?" Immediately underneath this headline is a picture like the one herewith presented. It makes rather a striking advertisement. In his letter inclosing the clipping Brother Bailey asks: "Did any of our fellows get away last September while at the Annual Meeting?" Of course the intention of the department store people was simply to print something that would catch the eye and attract attention to the various things which they have for sale, including carpets, carriages, and codfish. Some of their customers, however, took the "Jabberwoc" quite seriously, and wrote in to know if the brutes were for sale and at what price. One customer was so impressed that he sought to relieve his mind in the following alleged poetry:

"A JABBERWOC."

"When first I saw your 'Jabberwoc,'
My face was all agrin.
He haunted me through that day;
He haunted me through that day;
At night I dreamed of him.

"I dreamed I met him in the wood,
And saw his eyes so bright
A-gleaming through the underbrush,
My hair stood up with fright.

"The creature saw that I was scared;
He tried real hard to smile;
Assured me that he would not bite,
Was harmless as a child.

"I thought he'd make a nice watch dog,
So I took him home that night
And tied him to my front yard gate
To give the tramps a fright.

"And now the tramps all hasten by
Who come along this way;
And there's a 'haunt' around my chicken roost,
So the 'Weary Willies' say."

I have received an invitation to be present at the silver wedding of Mr. and Mrs. D. Call, Saturday evening, February 28, in the Elks' Parlors, Beaumont, Texas. Denny Call is the luckiest man I know. He has a sort of fetching way to begin with, which makes everybody like him; and then he was born with a great deal of hard horse sense, by the cultivation and exercise of which he has accumulated oil wells and banks and things. And now he has been married twenty-five years and is still alive. I regret that I cannot send a big chest of silver to show my regard for Mr. and Mrs. Call; but not being able to do that, I can at least extend sincere congratulations, which I am sure will be echoed by many hundreds of good Hoo-Hoo, and to wish for them that greatest of all blessings—the ability to always see the silver lining on the clouds.

Capron, O. T., January 1, 1903.—Inclosed find money order for $2—$1 for dues and $1 for the Imminent Distress Fund. Please accept the same as it is given—freely and cheerfully. I am a new one in the land of Hoo-Hoo, but I am glad I am in it.

GEORGE E. BACON (No. 9289).

Pettigrew, Ark., January 19, 1903.—Hoo-Hoo has served me nicely the past few months, as there are quite a lot of kittens at this place, most of whom are young ones, like myself; but we are getting our money's worth, just the same.

Meridian, Miss., February 3, 1903.—This is to let you know that one more kitten is made happy by the receipt of one of those wonderful emblems, so significant of all that is joyful and pleasant in this sad world of ours. I regret that my eyes were not opened soon enough to get into the nines, but an "A" stands for high grade in our business. I can still take consolation that I did not wait till it got down to "C." I hope I may be able to keep the cat's tail in that triumphant curl, so long as I am not among the "culls." Yours truly,

GEORGE W. STAPLE (No. 73-A).

P.S.—I will give $10 if you will transfer my number and give me 9999.

Baltimore, O., January 5, 1903.—I am in receipt of the Hoo-Hoo handbook and button, with which I am well pleased, and thank you for the same.

Thus far I am well pleased with the Order, and shall try to make my future in Hoo-Hoolism all right. Any information or instruction I may receive will be gladly accepted.

Yours fraternally,
SERENO W. KELLER (No. 125-A).

Office of the D. Clint Prescott Company, New Orleans, La., February 16, 1903.—Yours of February 9 finds me here. I cannot stay long in one place; police get on.

This office is full of business; the factory is full of work. The elder Prescott, Mr. Young, and your humble servant are kept busy running down inquiries.

I have enjoyed reading the January number of "The Bulletin." The editorials are masterpieces, and the big "I" goes; yes, sah, captain, the big "I" is all right.

Mr. Eugene Donnelly is out in Texas. He has shaved off his mustache, which is a big improvement. Donnelly is getting orders galore.

Mr. Sidney R. Lewis, secretary of the St. Louis "Lumberman," St. Louis, Mo., has just called to see us. He is in the city looking up business. Mr. Lewis reports that William Eddy barns is very sick with the grip.

Yours fraternally,
CHARLES H. ADAMS (No. 7292).

St. Louis, Mo., February 11, 1903.—I acknowledge, with thanks, the receipt of the registered package from you, containing the Hoo-Hoo handbook and emblem. I will say that I am justly proud of the fact that I may now call myself an "offspring of the Great Black Cat."

Yours truly,
J. F. SCHNEIDERS (No. 148-A).

Brother Charles H. Adams (No. 7292) has sent a clipping from a Denver newspaper which gives some interesting points in regard to the excellent concatenation held by Vicegerent M. V. Geagan, January 13, a write up of which appeared in the last issue of "The Bulletin."

"No; we're in no particular hurry this morning," said President D. C. Donovan, of the Colorado, Wyoming and New Mexico Retail Lumbermen's Association, which was due to reconvene in the ballroom of the Adams Hotel at 10 o'clock to-day. "You see, we were out late last night in answer to the call of the Great Black Cat."

"It was Mr. Donovan's way of referring to the fact that there had been a session of the Concatenated Order of Hoo-Hoo, and that fifteen new Hoo-Hoo had been created.

"What kept you up so late?" demanded that old-time Hoo-Hoo, R. W. English. "I understand it was 2 o'clock this morning before Mr. Adams, the proprietor of this hotel, and Mr. Dailey, the manager, succeeded in persuading you to climb to your several roofs."

"It was the feeding of the cats," responded the President. "They seemed starved for food and half furnished for drink. Of course the only drink cats like is milk."

"Of course," chorused the forty-eight others who gathered around the big central table.

"Good fellows all, these lumbermen from three Commonwealths; and lively fellows, too; full of business, when business is the order of the day, and full of fun at all times.

"One of the liveliest of all these lively lumbermen is J. B. Gillen, manager of the Foster Lumber Company, of Lamar. He is full of business, for the big establishment he represents has a line of yards in Missouri, Kansas, and Oklahoma Territory, as well as in this growing 'Centennial State'; but he is never too busy to have fun.

"You really ought to have been with us last night," said he. "You may think the Hoo-Hoo are not dead-game sports, and yet you may be mistaken; in fact, if that's what you think, you are mistaken. I think I may safely say that there never was such a time as we had last night. C. A. Black—that fat, good-natured fellow over yonder, who now looks like a distinguished morgue subject who would faint back on his slab and be left in peace—was the Big Tomcat, and I want to tell you he put things through right."

"Nearly all the talk this morning was of the wonderful initiatory Hoo-Hoo exercises of last night."

"But what are you going to do to-day?" was asked of the President.

"O, not a great deal," said Mr. Donovan, who is a fine, breezy person who lets nothing worry him. "We've got some officers to elect for the ensuing year, and there are some reports of committees, I believe; but we're not going to do anything strenuous; you can bet on that. What we meet for, mostly, is to kind of regulate business between the different sections, get acquainted, cultivate each other a bit, and have a general good, social time."

"That's right," said Secretary H. H. Hemmenway, of Colorado Springs, whom everybody calls 'Pap.' "Here; have one of these; they're all right;" and he handed around a big box of plethoric cigars."

M. V. GEAGAN,
Vicegerent for Colorado.

Oklahoma City, O. T., February 16, 1903.—Dear Brother Baird: On last evening I read every article of the January number of "The Bulletin," and I am pleased to advise that I enjoyed it very much. I take a greater interest in Hoo-Hoo every day, and would not be surprised at some future time to see it the greatest Order in existence. I am one who would be in favor of each member paying $1 to the family of any deceased brother at the time of his death. I would be glad to have the opinion of others.

For you and Great Hoo-Hoo I wish H., H., and L. L.
Yours fraternally, W. P. DAMAN (No. 6316).

Valdosta, Ga., January 19, 1903.—I have met a great many friends who recognize the Order and have great regard for its good work. D. A. DENMARK (No. 9641).

Montgomery, Ala., February 16, 1903.—I would claw you well, if I could only get to you, about that buckwheat story. It has followed me all over the country.

CAD. H. BEALE (No. 400).

Cherokee, O. T., January 12, 1903.—Inclosed find $1, the resurrection amount for 1903. Hoo-Hoo is all right.
P. H. WIMPEY (No. 9304).

Lima, O., January 9, 1903.—Inclosed please find my check for $2. Place $1 to my annual dues and $1 to the Imminent Distress Fund. I am enjoying this cold weather sleigh riding and the long evenings before the fire reading the news and old history, occasionally doing some real estate business. Fraternally yours,

T. W. DOBBINS (No. 646)
(Retired lumberman).

New Orleans, La., January 31, 1903.—Inclosed you will find the address sheet filled out by me, also a one-dollar William for my dues of 1903.

On December 27, 1902, I attended a meeting "On the Roof" held here by Brother Reddy, and must say that I enjoyed it very much. All went off fine, and I think every one of the kittens got their money's worth. Those I spoke to since said they received all they paid for—and more, too. Hoping this will find you in good health, I am,

Yours truly, J. J. GOLDMAN (No. 8179).

Mobile, Ala., December 22, 1902.—I hand you, herewith my check for $4, which please place as follows: Annual dues, $1; Benefit Fund, $1; Imminent Distress Fund, $2. With love and affection,
Yours very truly, THOMAS DENNIS (No. 2640).

Houston, Texas, February 14, 1903.—Maybe you heard I had left South Georgia. I am now over here with W. H. Norris, and am trying to make a good Hoo-Hoo out of him. My regards to yourself and Cowan.
Sincerely yours, C. P. BROWN (No. 9537).

Lyman, Miss., February 14, 1903.—I think the idea of each member giving a small fee of $1 to the family of a deceased brother would be a good thing, while it would not be an insurance fee, it would be better to say that every member's widow or family got $1 from every member of Hoo-Hoo.
W. C. PALMES (No. 4948).

Chicago, Ill., February 7, 1903.—I see through "The Bulletin" that there are some of the brothers agitating the question of assessing each brother a certain sum. Now, as Hoo-Hoo's prevailing numbers are 33, 66, and 99, I would be in favor of 33 cents or 66 cents being assessed to each and every member at the death of a brother. The reason why I think 33 cents or 66 cents would be best is that there are a great many members, like myself, who, if at any time there should be in any locality some contagious disease and the death rate would be large, could not afford any more. But no matter how much that assessment should be, I would stand by it as long as I could pay it. So hurrah for Hoo-Hoo! Let the good work go on.
J. I. OTT (No. 6711).

Randolph, La., February 9, 1903.—I inclose $1. I do not know just where I am, whether I have paid over or not. It makes no difference. I want "The Bulletin," for I enjoy it very much, as also does my wife.
C. H. SWAIN (No. 6345).

Theodore, Tenn.—I received the copy of the Constitution and By-laws and emblem of Hoo-Hoolism. We are not fond of cats, but will have to take to this one and make it a member of our household, and we will always treat it kindly. Very truly yours,

J. F. GERLICHER (No. 109-A).

A number of the enthusiastic members of the Hoo-Hoo Order in Milwaukee have organized a Hoo-Hoo Bowling Club, comprising several of the prominent members in Milwaukee and their wives. The members are: Messrs. and Mesdames A. L. Annes, F. N. Snell, Donald Fraser, J. J. Williams, J. E. Rice, and Dr. S. A. L. Thompson. The latter gentleman is not a member of the Order, but it was thought best to have a medical attendant present at the contests; and as the Doctor is eminently qualified in other respects, he was admitted to the team. The members of the club do not pretend to be professionals, but they are practicing steadily and hope within the course of a few weeks to be able to receive challenges from any Hoo-Hoo organization in the United States, if any such exist. Mr. Annes, it is said, has been working overtime learning how to keep score, as it is proposed to make him official scorekeeper. During his experience in the sash and door business he has become an adept in figures in that class of work, but he declares that keeping score for bowling is a harder mathematical proposition than he has tackled since he studied cube root.

134 Monroe street, Chicago, Ill., February 23, 1903.—Dear Jim: I have left the coast again and located at the above address in the capacity of Western editor and manager of the "Field and Stream" magazine, of New York. I have a five-years' contract, giving me complete control of all business for this publication west of Pittsburgh; and while I am now out of the lumber business, I am just as much a Hoo-Hoo as ever, and will be mighty glad to show any man with the button on that I've still got the glad hand worked by hydraulic pressure of the heart in the same old way.

By the way, I found a man in Chicago a few days ago wearing a Hoo-Hoo button, and also found that he did not belong to the Order and could not make good; so I took the button off of him without further palaver. He wanted to argue it, but I weighed the most; so I got the button. It has no number on it; so I suppose it is one of the early ones. If any of the boys can "show cause," I will turn it over; if not, I will have my number put on it and wear it in my other suit (if I can get the suit).

Yours as ever, W. S. PHILLIPS (No. 7360).

For some years I have been greatly interested in all kinds of mental phenomena, believing that the human mind is the most marvelous thing in all creation. The study of that mysterious, submerged consciousness which seems to run on its own schedule has particularly interested me. I presume everybody has had more or less experience along this line and has been from time to time cognizant of something within himself that is not dominated by his own will. The most usual form of these experiences is dreams for which we cannot account—we dream of things which we could swear were never in the back of our heads. And then sometimes we suddenly know things in our waking hours without having the slightest idea where the knowledge came from. Not long ago I ran across a very delightful dissertation on "Mechanism in Thought and Morals," by Oliver Wendell Holmes, in which he relates some experiments which he made. He says:

"But I must here add another personal experience, of which I will say beforehand (somewhat as honest Isaac Walton said of his pike, 'This dish of meat is too good for any but anglers or honest men'): This story is good only for philosophers and very small children. I will merely hint to the former class of thinkers that its moral bears on two points: first, the value of self-estimate, sleeping—possibly, also, waking; secondly, the significance of general formulae when looked at in certain exalted mental conditions.

"I once inhaled a pretty full dose of ether, with the determination to put on record, at the earliest moment of regaining consciousness, the thought I should find uppermost in my mind. The mighty music of the triumphal march into nothingness reverberated through my brain and filled me with a sense of infinite possibilities, which made me an archangel for the moment. The veil of eternity was lifted. The one great truth which underlies all human experience and is the key to all the mysteries that philosophy has sought in vain to solve flashed upon me in a sudden revelation. Henceforth all was clear. A few words had lifted my intelligence to the level of the knowledge of the cherubim. As my natural condition returned, I remembered my resolution; and, staggering to my desk, I wrote, in ill-shaped, straggling characters, the all-embracing truth still glimmering in my consciousness. The words were these (children may smile; the wise will ponder): 'A strong smell of turpentine prevails throughout.'

This would certainly prove that the automatic mind is totally devoid of reason and is just as apt to believe one thing as another. Some time ago I was talking on this subject to Brother W. S. Phillips (No. 7360), and he told me of a poem which he once wrote when half asleep on the train. He said he had no more idea than the man in the moon what it was all about, but there was no hesitation in the writing of it. It was written rapidly and apparently by some power outside of himself and unbeknown to him. He said it was undoubtedly the most senseless thing in the English language. I asked him to let me see the poem, and the other day he sent it in, and I am publishing it because I think it may interest others who may be, like myself, interested in these matters:

"In the days of King Klack (which is dating 'way back) a problem confronted wise men.
The point in debate would determine the weight (for all time) of the egg of the hen.
The King, in high glee, said: 'Leave it to me, for the formula of eggs is my pride.'
So the thrifty brown hen agreed there and then, but stipulated that the shells be of lime.
The King knitted his brows and vowed a few vows and figured both early and late;
And when he got done, one could read the plain sum, as he'd figured it out on the slate.
Said he: 'Listen; now do; I'll explain it clear through, and I'll prove my arithmetic right.
So the thrifty brown hen will have naught to do then but to follow my rule to be right.
Just start with one grain of the essence of rain, plus its own weight of good albumen;
Mix pollen of corn that's gathered at morn with the breath of a honeybee; then
Add one-sixth of sixteen (less the weight of a bean), and you see in a second I'm right
On the theory that corn from night until morn grows one-ninth of three-eighths of its height.
The thrifty brown hen can quickly see, then, that the answer is two-seven-five;
This being 'tis clear, the number per year, with ninety days left on the side.
If more she'd produce, she'd find it no use, for people would tire of them quite.
So with two-seven-five as total we arrive at the fact that one for a unit is right.
Then take two-seven-five and by it divide seven-sixteenths of one-ninth of nine;
Add two-forty-three, and you easily see how correct is this answer of mine.
Therefore we can show by the figures, you know, there are nine thousand eggs to the ton;
And if you follow it out, you find beyond doubt that the weight of an egg is just one.'

Orange, Texas, February 24, 1903.—The last issue of "The Bulletin" was strictly up to grade and specifications. I read all the copies, and I find they are all good; but when I read the last, I felt like I wanted to congratulate "I" or "we."
B. T. T. O. T. G. S. B. C.,
GEORGE ROLL CALL (No. 4459).

Newton, Kan., January 13, 1903.—Find my check No. 46 for $2, which was overlooked yesterday. Apply $1 to annual dues, $1 to the Imminent Distress Fund; and may your shadow increase in size and the Order do an immense amount of good. Truly yours,

S. M. SWARTZ (No. 5442).

Delany, Ark., February 6, 1903.—Inclosed please find $1 as my dues for 1903. I would have sent this in sooner, but the fact is that I have been away from home and did not get the last "Bulletin" until a few days ago, which was read with delight.

I am just in receipt of some blank applications from a brother at St. Paul, which tell me that we are going to have a concatenation at St. Paul, Ark., Friday night, February 27. We expect to initiate quite a number of kittens. Yours fraternally,
G. W. WATKINS (No. 9381).

Kingfisher, O. T., January 15, 1903.—Inclosed find my check for $5. The fact is, I don't know anything about how far behind on dues I am. I guess this will fix me up to date at least and leave $2 for the Relief Fund.

I am pleased to know the lines are being drawn closer and admitting only the worthy.

Very truly,
W. F. BORT (No. 2120).

Spokane, Wash., January 14, 1903.—Herewith I hand you money order for $1 as dues for the year 1903.

Hoo-Hoo is a growling Order in the wild and woolly West, and the kittens are as frisky as they make them.

Yours truly,
O. C. RICE (No. 8910).

Sandusky, O., January 10, 1903.—I don't know whether I owe for dues or not. Anyway, find check for $1, and give me credit when credit is due. I can't drop Hoo-Hoo, nohow.

C. T. WIGHT (No. 3939).

Rawlins, Wyo., January 26, 1903.—Find inclosed post office order for $2—$1 for dues and $1 for Benefit Fund.

I will say I think the project of starting a nucleus fund for indigent brothers a very commendable one and one that all the brothers should be glad to contribute to; but I think it would be far better to make it compulsory, and also to have a stipulated sum instead of the brothers sending what they saw fit to give. I don't consider it quite just, as one brother may give $5 and another equally well fixed financially may give only $1.

Yours truly,

CHARLES WILLIAM S. DOW (No. 8082).

Brother W. M. Stephenson (No. 2676), formerly of Nashville, but now general agent of the Wisconsin Central Railroad, at St. Paul, Minn., spent several days here recently. Brother Stephenson now has a brand-new daughter and an uncommonly bright twenty-month-old boy—W. M. Stephenson, Jr.

Dues for 1903.

WHEN the clock struck twelve on the night of September 9 last, dues became payable for 1903. The Hoo-Hoo year begins and ends on September 9. Look up your receipts, and if you find that you have not paid 1903 dues, send 99 cents to the Scrivenoter at once. Any form of remittance will do except stamps that are stuck together. Your individual check will be all right.

Obituary.

Brother Emory White (No. 1981) died at his home in Minneapolis, Minn., February 20, of neuralgia of the heart. Emory Stwash White was born at Red Bluffs, Cal., March 8, 1863. Most of his adult life was spent in the lumber business. At the time of his death he was a member of the firm of Wallace-White Lumber Company, of Minneapolis.

The following resolutions were adopted by the Minneapolis Hoo-Hoo:

"Whereas the Almighty, who moves in mysterious ways, has, in his divine wisdom, seen fit to lead through the silent halls of death to the life beyond the shadow our brother in Hoo-Hoo, Emory White (No. 1984), one who has endeared himself to us by his loyalty as a friend and his truth, honesty, and uprightness as a man; and

"Whereas he leaves behind not only a circle of friends as wide as his acquaintance, but also a brokenhearted wife and daughter, a bereaved father and mother, and a sorrowing brother; therefore be it

"Resolved, That his brother Hoo-Hoo, in meeting assembled, deplore the loss of a true friend, who has proven his worth by many acts of kindness; a true man, who has exemplified his manliness by unselfish consideration for others, and whose memory we will ever cherish.

"Resolved, That we extend to his bereaved family and relatives our warmest sympathy in their great loss, and hope that He who brings surcease from sorrow and the peace that passeth all understanding will comfort and sustain them in the hour of affliction; and be it further

"Resolved, That copies of these resolutions be transmitted to the members of the family and to the lumber papers and the Hoo-Hoo "Bulletin" for publication.

"In behalf of Hoo-Hoo,

"CHARLES VAN PELT,
"JOHN F. HAYDEN,
"E. H. ZIMMERMAN,
"W. E. PINFIELD,
"J. P. LANSING."
