MEMO ...from the Snark's desk

Snark of the Universe

In 1892 our great Order of Hoo-Hoo was organized as a Fraternal organization of the Lumber Industry to cultivate true friendship and confidence among persons engaged in the lumber industry. This basically is what our forefathers set out to accomplish and has succeeded over the past 85 years. Over the years we have had our ups and downs, but always we have remained a solid organization, because we are linked together with the same common interest and the fraternalism of men enjoying each other on a person to person basis. As I announced in my speech at the Portland Convention I so chose to use a motto this year, "Through Brotherly Love and Love of all Mankind, all things are possible". This was not a difficult decision for me to make as our past history of our great order has shown us. This is what has been practiced to keep us linked together, or we would have fallen by the wayside long ago. We all have our aims in life, to better ourselves financially in our business as well as give our families a better way of life. These things are all important, but most important that we never lose sight of our people to people relations with each other.

We are now nearing the 8,000 mark in membership in our great order, we have had times that we were over 13,000 strong in membership, perhaps one day we will be that strong again. We increased our membership last year with a lot of hard work from a lot of people. The need and the want for Fraternalism is never more needed than it is now. I say to you my fellow Hoo-Hoo'ers we need to get out and do a job of selling ourselves and our great organization to many friends in the lumber industry, who I am sure are waiting for us to extend our hand of true friendship into the largest Industrial Fraternal Order in the world. So many seem to believe that we are an organization of just fun and games, may I take the time to give you a little side note from some of the members I visited with in Portland, who were attending their first International Convention. They said to me "We were most surprised to find out how serious and sincere an organization we have". They were like so many thinking we were all fun, not realizing we have a purpose which is well spelled out in our code of Ethics. If we practice the theme I have put before you this year "Through Brotherly Love and Love of all Mankind, all things are possible" we will not only grow in number, we will also retain our present membership. This is not possible by the Snark and International Board, and the Rameses or the Presidents and Officers of our local clubs, unless the individual Hoo-Hoo'er does his part. It takes us working together wether it be an officer or member to grow and strengthen our great order. It's just this simple—People need People and we need you as part of these people to show us you care enough to make us stronger in the fraternalism of Hoo-Hoo.

My first gift as Snark was given to me by Darry and Sue, my son and his wife. It was a scrap book and on the first page he had written a poem to me which puts it all together what life is all about. I was most touched with this poem and I would like to share it with you. There is a destiny

That makes us Brothers
None goes his way alone
All that we send into the lives of others
Comes back into our own.

If each and every one of us fit this into our lives along with Brotherly Love we will all have a more profitable year whether it be in business, family, or the fraternalism of Hoo-Hoo.

Through Hoo-Hoo A United Lumber Industry.

Fraternally Yours,
Laurin R. Champ L-75820

Gentlemen:

Thanks to the 347 people who registered and attended the 1977 International Hoo-Hoo Convention in Portland, Oregon, it was a tremendous success.

We appreciated the opportunity to host you wonderful people and hope your memories are as fond as ours.

Listed below are the names of Hoo-Hoo Clubs and businesses whose personal efforts and financial support helped to make this convention a very special occasion.

Sincerely,
PORTLAND HOO-HOO CLUB #47

Dear Louie:

Please let me express my appreciation for the strong support shown the Western Forestry Center by delegates to the 87th Annual Convention in Portland. Financial gifts totalling more than $2,000.00...the return of "Mr. Silvers" with its many signatures...and the gift of Australian Hardwoods from the Australian delegates...all dramatically display the warmth that the International Order of Hoo-Hoo feels for the Forestry Center.

I'm particularly pleased that you made the Forestry Center such a focal point during the convention and that delegates and spouses were able to view the educational exhibits and learn more about the Center that Hoo-Hoo has so often supported.

Congratulations to you for a superbly organized convention.

Very Truly yours,
John L. Blackwell

He lives in Duncan, B.C. with his wife, Betty, three sons - Jerry, Randy and Ronnie, and a daughter, Indira. He became a LIFE member of Hoo-Hoo International in May of 1977.

W.A. (Bill) Russell L-50220

W.A. (Bill) Russell L-50220 is our International Secretary/Treasurer. He joined Hoo-Hoo in May, 1948 at Houston, Texas. He served as President of the Houston Club in 1952-1953 and served as Deputy Supreme Nine of Texas. He was General Chairman of the International Convention in 1954, served as Supreme Nine Member representing Jurisdiction VII in 1959-1960 and again in 1969-1970. He was elected Secretary/Treasurer for 1976-1977 and reelected for 1977-1978. His first International Convention was attended in 1952 and has not missed a Hoo-Hoo convention since, and does not intend to miss one as long as he is alive. He is an active member of the Houston Rotary Club (World's largest) and has had perfect attendance since joining except for a period he was in the hospital. He is with the Rockwell Lumber Company serving as Executive Officer in the company's Houston office. The company operates thirteen retail lumber yards in West Texas and the Texas Panhandle, with the exception of one yard in Portales, New Mexico.

Joseph W. Cusack 70543

Robert VanEvery L-73186

Dan Brown 74477

Desmond C. Gill 74879

Joseph W. Cusack 70543 is the Supreme Nine Member representing Jurisdiction I. He joined the Harry L. Folsom Hoo-Hoo Club #13 in Boston, Mass. in December of 1959. He served the club in various capacities until he became President of the Boston Club in 1975-1976. He is the First Vice President of the Massachusetts Retail Lumber Dealers Association, a Past President of the Boston Executive Face Club, and Vice President of the Doherty Lumber Co., a retail outlet with four stores in and around Boston. The company is presently planning its fifth store—a home center—in Norwell, Mass. to celebrate its 100th year in the lumber industry. He lives in Westwood, Mass. with his wife, Michele and their five children, Michele, Kelly, Joseph, Paul and David.

Robert C. VanEvery L-73186 is serving his third consecutive term as Supreme Nine member of Jurisdiction II. He has held various local offices in the Detroit Hoo-Hoo Club #28 including President, Vice President and Vicegerent Snark. Presently he is serving on their Board of Directors. Bob first joined Hoo-Hoo in 1962 and has since become a Lifetime member in the Order. His civic affiliations are with the Farmington Chamber of Commerce, American Legion, Lodge of Elks, Kiwanis Club and the Michigan Retail Lumber Dealers Association. At present, he is President of H.A. Smith Lumber & Supply, Inc., a retail company formed in 1945. Bob and his wife Marilyn reside in Farmington, Michigan.

Dan Gilbert Brown 74477 is our new Supreme Nine Member representing Jurisdiction III. He joined Hoo-Hoo in August of 1963 as a member of the Winema Hoo-Hoo Club #216 at Klamath Falls, Oregon. He has been very active in Hoo-Hoo International and attends every convention possible. He currently resides in Klamath Falls, Oregon with his wife, Elouise. They have a daughter, Debbie. Dan is also quite active in the Elks.

Desmond C. Gill 74879 is our new Supreme Nine Member representing Jurisdiction IV (Australia). He has been a member of Hoo-Hoo International for 14 years having joined the Adelaide, So. Australia Club #212 in 1963. Prior to joining Hoo-Hoo he had an active part in the Junior Chamber of Commerce. During his years in Hoo-Hoo he was President of the Adelaide Club for two terms, and was the first secretary for Jurisdiction IV. He was also an Executive for Jurisdiction IV for seven years. In daily activities he is the chief Executive Officer of his company which is engaged in timber importing from all sources of world forestry. He is Chairman of Directors for two other companies engaged in furniture manufacturing and ceiling installation. As such he is a "bloody busy boy." In his capacity he travels all over Australia on an average of two visits to other areas. The greatest kick he gets out of becoming involved with people in Hoo-Hoo as he believes it is one of the greatest organizations in the world, and he is looking forward to meeting all his friends in America and Canada this year.

George F.E. Pletch 73091

James A. Jones L-72703

Gary B. Hester 81283

Gerald A. Jewett, Jr. L-55519 is serving his second consecutive term as Supreme Nine representative for Jurisdiction VIII. George F.E. Pletch 73091 is our new Supreme Nine Member representing Jurisdiction V (Canada). Mr. Pletch joined Hoo-Hoo in 1963 and hence, he has been a very active member of Hoo-Hoo for 14 years. He "went through the chairs" of the Toronto Hoo-Hoo Club and was Vicegerant Snark in 1973-1974 and again in 1976-1977. He was also Deputy Supreme Nine member for the Eastern Canada Portion of Jurisdiction V. He was a past President of the Toronto Hoo-Hoo Club (1972-1973) and has aided the Toronto Club in their Wood Promotion efforts for the past several years. He is employed by Crown Zellerbach Corporation which is a wholesale distributor of lumber, plywood and allied products. Although golf is his chief hobby, he lives with his wife, Agnes, in Toronto with his three children, Donald, Duncan and David.

James A (Jimmy) Jones L-72703 is our perennial Supreme Nine Member from Jurisdiction VI. He has held that office since 1972. He joined Hoo-Hoo in 1961 at Santa Roas, California, and transferred his membership to the Black Bart Hoo-Hoo Club shortly thereafter. He has held several offices in that club, and has been on the Board of Directors of that club for eight years. Jim is active in Kiwanis, the Boy Scouts and the Salvation Army, and currently holds an active Elks Club card. When he became active as a Supreme Nine Member, he became inactive in most other clubs. Jim and his wife, Betty, live in Napa, California, and they have two children—David, who is the manager of the Vallejo Store, and Celia who is attending college at Colorado State. Jim purchased one half interest in the Foster Lumber Yards in 1946 and became sole owner in 1952. His company uses its own trucks and trailers to haul lumber from Northern California and Oregon. The company is currently widening its wholesale business of plywood and lumber products.

Gary B. Hester 81283 is our new Supreme Nine Representative from Jurisdiction VII. He joined the Houston Hoo-Hoo Club #23 in February, 1973 and has been very active in all the club's activities since then. He has been Vice President, President and Chairman of the Board of that club since he joined. He was President, and a Director of the Retail Lumber and Building Material Dealers Association of Houston. He is a Director of the Angleton Bank of Commerce at Angleton, Texas. He is also owner of the South Houston Insurance Agency in South Houston, Texas, and is Vice President and General Manager of the South Houston Lumber Company in South Houston, Texas. He resides in Houston, Texas with his wife, Anne, and his son, Scott. The company is concerned with wholesale and retail lumber sales in that area.

involved in Hoo-Hoo since 1951 and recently became a Lifetime member in the Order. He and his wife Nelle have two daughters, Jennifer and Stephanie and two sons, Tom and Roy.

R. W. (Dick) Wilson 51796, is our new Supreme Nine Member representing Jurisdiction IX. He has been a Hoo-Hoo member since his initiation in 1949, having joined the Atlanta (Georgia) Hoo-Hoo Club #1 at that time. This makes him a 28-year member. He started in the lumber business in 1938 with the Atlanta Oak Flooring Company. He worked for the old Wheeler, Osgood Company of Tacoma, Washington, with Clear Fir Sales and Timber Products Company for 30 years. He resides in Atlanta, Georgia with his wife, Fran and his two children Dick, Jr., and Gary.

Clifford H. (Cliff) Cunningham L-71880 has been the Executive Secretary of Hoo-Hoo International since January of 1970. He was initiated into Hoo-Hoo with the Harry L. Folsom Club #13 of Boston in December, 1960. With the exception of WWII years, he has been in the lumber industry all his life. He was the Editor of the Commercial Bulletin, a lumber trade weekly newspaper, for seven years and was also a lumber buyer for the Warren Trask Company located in Boston. He is a member of the American Society of Association Executives, a member of the Board Street Equestrian Society and a member of the Columbian Lodge A.F. & A.M. He was also Secretary of the Harry L. Folsom Hoo-Hoo Club #13 of Boston from 1964 through 1969. He lives in Quincy, Mass. with his wife, Fran.

Reports of Officers And Supreme Nine

Snark's Report

There is not much I can add to the events of this past year. They are, in retrospect, a series of conclusions to many programs initiated over the past four years. The hours involved in achieving them are countless and while only the years ahead can judge their worth they will, in fact, be forgotten as we move in new directions with new programs and new tools.

Very little begins and ends in the same year for our organization. We recognized many years ago the need to record formally the most successful and worthwhile programs and methods of operations of our leading clubs. The by-laws were altered so that the International Board could more readily relate to the individual clubs through Deputies and Vicegerent Snarks. It was important for all clubs to know what was available to them through the experience of other Hoo-Hoo Clubs and for all to be aware of International's challenge—their goals and responsibilities. All this and much more was put in the hands of every club president in the form of an Operations Manual.

This manual should be passed on from club president to club president. International has the challenge of seeing that this happens and for keeping it as an up-to-date living tool.

If there is a specific aim that I have endeavored to see this Board achieve this past year it has been one of solid membership. I refer to membership based on quality rather than quantity and one that embodies and supports the aims and ideals of Hoo-Hoo. I'm more proud of the club that holds its membership than I am of the one that gains 10 and loses 10.

The strength of Hoo-Hoo

International—this Fraternal Order of Lumbermen—is not in high international ideals. It's on a one-to-one basis with each member in the local club. Our founders recognized this when they made only the individual eligible for membership.

The Board of Directors of Hoo-Hoo International has a unique and difficult challenge before it. It must tie together these individual clubs and their individual members and yet allow them complete freedom. This is not an easy task when you consider the diversity of our membership, from lumber centers on the West Coast to industrial centers in the east; from loggers, salesmen, bookkeepers to solid brass executives. But there are common bonds and the singular most significant of these is the industry that we are all a part of—we are the Fraternal Order of Lumbermen.

To this end the Board of Directors would do well to listen carefully to the experience and direction offered by the Norwood office. You are the group that brings the fresh approach to Hoo-Hoo each year. It is the Norwood staff that provides the continuity. They are potentially the strongest public relations weapon—both for and against—that we have. All possible assistance should be given to allow them to efficiently carry out the job assigned them. For the future we should look to developing and strengthening this office and channeling more and more of our efforts through it. This is the direction all other major associations, local as well as international, have been obliged to take and have done so with great success.

An Executive Secretary who travels about promoting our fraternity can do it most efficiently and effectively. He is on the staff and it becomes part of the responsibilities of the

Report from First Veep

As my year as First Vice President comes to a close it has been one of many eventful memories and successful both for me and Hoo-Hoo International. There is no organization in existence with so much brotherly love and fraternalism that you find in Hoo-Hoo. This was brought to my thinking a number of times this past year.

After arriving home in Goddard after the convention in Albuquerque I acted as visiting officer for the concat at the Wichita Club #173, in October. In November Maxene and I drove to Rochester for their Holiday festivities of Southern Minnesota Club #150, also attending was Snark Bill Bader and S9 Robert Hertling and Hildgard, Juris. VII.

In December I was most honored to visit the Detroit Club #28 for their annual Holiday Luncheon. The warm hospitality extended to me by S9 Bob VanEvery and Rameses #66 Phil Dawson and all of the Detroit Hoo-Hoo'ers surely showed me that brotherly love exists with the utmost in Detroit.

In January, 1977 I flew to San Francisco and was met by that Super S9, Jim Jones and Betty from Juris. VI. I was picked up at the plane first class by the Joneses in their limousine. We waited for the Toronto Express to arrive and the last parcel to be office. It's in the future and the Board should be aware of it as you seek to balance income and expense and to get the most for each member's dollar.

This past year has been an exceptionally rewarding one for me. You all have given me real support and what we have all accomplished together we can be truly proud. I'm sure future years will be no less challenging and no less rewarding.

Fraternally,
Bill Bader L-75318

unloaded, would you believe was Our Snark Bill Bader. We were taken to the Jones' home in Napa and spent the night, the cup runneth over with hospitality when you visit the Joneses. We traveled the next morning to Redding, Calif. where they held their annual concat. This being my third time visiting this Club made me feel like I was returning home.

January 29, Maxene and I drove to Phoenix for our Snarks mid-winter board meeting, which was most constructive and rewarding. The hospitality of the Phoenix Club #72 was super great. We drove on to southern Calif. for a week's stay with friends and relatives, then back to Tucson Club #110 where we met our friends the Jimmy Jones. Jim and I attended a concat at their Country Club with great hospitality and brotherly love.

In March, Wichita Club #173 hosted the Juris. VII Conf., and we brought the Snark of the Universe into Mid USA with the greatest of style. Wichita was delighted to have other dignitaries from Hoo-Hoo International.

In May, Maxene and I drove to the West Coast. We met with Snark Bill Bader, Jimmy Jones, Juris. VI, Al Kerpers, and Roy Dunbars in Eureka, Calif. We visited the Hoo-Hoo Redwood grove under Calif. liquid sunshine. It is most impressive and inspiring to visit the great redwoods. While standing in the mist of these giant trees, you are most thankful that we are part of this great organization that has a part in the growth of something so beautiful as the redwood trees only made possible by our Maker above.

As we had driven to the coast we took on a Chauffeur with lots of class, our great Snark, better known in the great city of Toronto as the CB Jabberwock. We drove to Spokane, where we were met by 2nd Vice President Gene Zanck, and Jackie. From Juris. V was S9 Gordon Doman and Betty. We attended a Past Presidents' meeting with Spokane Club #16, and their guests the Coeur d' Alene, Idaho Club. They honored their Rameses #50, Ernie Wales and their past presidents, and again the hospitality was great.

Message from the 1st Vice President

The success of any club is based on the foundation of the quality and quantity of its membership. Rather than say who is responsible for membership in a club, we should feel each member has this responsibility. If he enjoys participating in a club's activities, then he should want to bring in new members to share his happiness. That's what Hoo-Hoo is all about. Sharing something that is good.

When was the last time you asked someone to join Hoo-Hoo? I ask this question many times and often find that members have not asked anyone to join for over a year. If each of us would set an individual goal of aking 5 or 6 people to join Hoo-Hoo this year, International could more than double its membership. After all, Hoo-Hoo is a good thing so we shouldn't have any trouble selling it to potential

The next day we all drove to Yakima for the Juris. III Conf. It was well planned with a very educational meeting and fun social hours.

In June I flew to Houston to visit Houston Club #23, for their spring golf tournament and was most impressed with the enthusiasm of this club and the hospitality shown to me by our Sec. & Treas. Bill Russell and their club President Jim Brown.

This year has been a very inspiring year to me to see our Hoo-Hoo International become stronger in brotherly love as well as unity in love of mankind. It has been inspiring for me working with the many members of our Board and above all our Super Snark, Bill Bader. He has been an inspiration to me and I feel as your First Vice President running for Snark of the Universe that I have a first class production to follow and I personally would like to thank Bill for his dedicated time that he gave to the service of Hoo-Hoo International and to all mankind.

members. If you have any question as to who can belong, ask your President at your next meeting to read aloud Article II of our by-laws. It defines who is eligible for membership in our great order. Then you can consider what kind of membership drive your club should follow.

Some of our more successful clubs offer rewards for signing up new members. In other words, the more members signed up, the greater the prize. (Free dinner, a free Hoo-Hoo tie, shirt, buckle, whatever). If you want more information on the types of membership drives that clubs put on, drop me a line and I'll be glad to send you the information I have compiled concerning this. If we all make an effort to sign up at least 1 new member this year, just think what a great year our new Snark will have. Your club will also be more fun to belong to because the more members it has, the more ideas it will receive for having a good time.

Report from Juris I

It was just twelve months ago, in Albuquerque, New Mexico, that I was elected to fill an unexpired term as Supreme IX member, from Jurisdiction I. As a point of information; Jurisdiction I is that area referred to as New England, but also includes eastern New York, eastern Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Washington, D.C., Maryland and Delaware.

On August 31, 1976, there were 16 active clubs within Jurisdiction I with a total paid membership of 1,068.

So in late September 1976, after much discussion with past and present Supreme IX members, I set out to strengthen the membership within the boundaries of Jurisdiction I with this three point program.

1. Personal Visits: to either regular monthly meetings or to Board of Director meetings.

2. Constant Communication: Personal telephone or letters to particular individuals.

Report from Juris. I

3. Jurisdiction I Newsletter: This newsletter would be sent to all club presidents and secretaries four times a year.

In Retrospect:

1. The personal visits to regular meetings:

I had intended to visit all clubs within my jurisdiction this past year, but I soon found this to be next to impossible, so instead, I took the time available to visit those clubs in Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island and Vermont, who for some reason or other, have not had a visit from a Supreme IX member in some time.

Some of these clubs I visited, as many as four times during this past year, on some occasions, by myself, on other occasions with the Snark of the Universe, Bill Bader, and sometimes with the Executive Secretary of Hoo-Hoo International, Mr. Cliff Cunningham, whether it be a regular monthly meeting, a Concat or a meeting of the Board of Directors, we always took the time to explain the happenings of our Fraternal Order.

On five different occasions, this past year, I was invited to speak to various Hoo-Hoo clubs in Jurisdiction I, on the make up and geographic territories of Hoo-Hoo International. On each occasion, when my presentation was complete, I believe, those Hoo-Hoo members in attendance had a far better understanding of just what Hoo-Hoo is all about, and why we truly are the Greatest Fraternal Order of all.

2. Constant Communication:

This was actions taken by me in the form of letters or telephone conversation with clubs that I was unable to personally visit this past year.

Third and finally:

3. The Newsletter:

Four times this past year, in September, December, January, April, a newsletter was sent to all club presidents and secretaries, keeping them totally informed with the going ons of clubs in our Jurisdiction, in these newsletters; there was information on what Hoo-Hoo International was doing; sug-

Report from Juris. II

The most disappointing thing this past year has been membership, but I've always been told that behind every dark cloud there's usually a rainbow, and that's what I'll continue to look for this next year. This last year has seen Jurisdiction II lose less members than in any recent year. We have only six less members this year compared to a loss of 39 last year. Out of the six lost this past year, five were members-at-large, which means the active clubs are only down one member. I think when you look at the situation from this angle, we made some progress. If we gave membership trophies within the Jurisdictions, Jurisdiction II's trophy would have to go to Rochester, New York. Thanks to Fred Meyers, this club has gained 13 members this past year.

I realize that Hoo-Hoo was formed so lumbermen could meet one another, but I'll have to admit suggestions by me on ways to improve attendance at meetings; ideas for different meetings and most always a reminder to collect our international dues.

Of all the things tried in Jurisdiction I this past year, our newsletter was quite possibly the best received.

That's a brief look at what we tried to accomplish in Jurisdiction I this past year.

Were we Successful?

Well, on August 31, 1977, we showed a slight increase in membership; we still have 16 very active clubs, with the talk of two more in the wind, and in New England, particularly, we have a renewed interest in our Fraternal Order.

The job ahead, will be to combine this enthusiasm with that of the great clubs in Washington D.C., New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania; so that all of us in Jurisdiction I will be working towards one goal:

"To Spread Fraternalism Throughout Our Chosen Industry".

Thank you,
Respectfully submitted,
Joseph W. Cusack
Supreme IX Member
Jurisdiction I

that the most active and successful clubs in Jurisdiction II are the ones that have regular functions which include the members wives.

It would be much too lengthy and time consuming to report every activity that happened this past year, so I'll try and report the major events in each club as I know them:

Milwaukee -

Regular meetings, golf outing, Torsh Dinner.

Northern Illinois -

Concat, golf outing, husband and wife dinner cruise on Lake Geneva.

Chicago -

Regular meetings, golf outing, Concat.

Toledo -

Regular meetings, two golf outings, Concat.

Rochester -

Annual ball game with Buffalo, Nite at the Races, Concat.

Buffalo -

Annual ball game with Rochester, Nite at the Races, Concat.

Erie, PA. -

Regular monthly meetings, Concat, golf outing.

Lumber Jac Club, Pittsburg -

Annual Lumberman's Night in which several hundred lumbermen were in attendance. Connie Stevens was the guest entertainer.

Detroit -

Besides our regular meetings, we held a very successful golf outing. Our Toledo guests took home the prizes. The big event of the year is our Christmas Party. It has been the custom for the last several years to have as our guest, the Snark, as it was last year, when Bill Bader honored us. Larn Champ and Bob Hertling also attended.

In closing, a special thanks to the following Hoo-Hoo's for the cooperation I received this past year; Ed Foley, Milwaukee Ben Springer Club #35; Joe Romano, Chicago Club, #29; Robert Greiner, Lumber Jac Club, #179; Fred Meyer, Rochester, New York, #184; Jim Riley, Detroit Club, #28; Less Gerke, Jr., Toledo Club, #157; Ken Holgren, Northern Illinois, #139.

I think we have only scratched the great potential that we can receive from Hoo-Hoo. It will keep

Report from Juris. III

I'm Al Meier, acting Supreme Nine Member from Jurisdiction III filling in for Clair Richey, who has had serious health problems this last year.

Jurisdiction III has had a very good year with a membership growth of 176 men. We have reactivated the Yakima (Wash.) Club #121—which was inactive for about 20 years. Twelve new members were initiated and the club is off to a good start.

Through the efforts of Norm Mikalson, from Club #16, a new club was established in Coleville, Washington.

May 13th we had a very successful Jurisdiction Conference in Yakima. We had 89 members in attendance including the Snark of the Universe, Bill Bader; 1st Vice President Larn Champ; 2nd Vice President Gene Zanck and the Supreme Nine Member from Jurisdiction V Gordon Doman. We all felt it was very informative and rewarding. Plans are well under way for next year's meeting in Warm Springs, Oregon. The meeting will be May 5, 6 & 7. Ted Fullmer of the Portland Club will be the chairman.

Report from Juris. IV

Dear Brothers in Hoo-Hoo,

I enclose my Annual Report for 1976/77 and it is with great pleasure that I welcome the tenth Club to our Jurisdiction - LAUNCES-
TON with 31 members.

Jurisdiction IV is NOT the "membership trophy" winner for the past year - the figures are taken as paid membership at HHI on 31st July each year and I list for your information the figures I have just received from America. However, we'll win next year and Des Gill can receive the trophy for us at the 1978 Convention.

My sincere thanks to the "9" for their support and particularly to Rod Abel who has carried out his Secretary role to perfection. I wish him well as Vicegerent Snark of Brisbane Club next year.

To the new "9" at H.H.I. and Jurisdiction IV - "Health, happiness, long life and a very successful term of office".

Report from Juris. V

I attended the International Convention in Albuquerque, New Mexico in September of 1976.

During the past 12 months I have kept busy visiting clubs in Jurisdiction V, and enjoying meetings within this Jurisdiction. The clubs have been very busy this year, aside from general meetings, executive, various club functions—from fund raising to wood promotion, the clubs kept a close eye on membership. Jurisdiction V did have a membership increase. At this point I would like to thank all Clubs for their great interest in membership, otherwise we would not have succeeded. (Especially to the Vancouver Club, their President Jack Jacobson and Executive).

My wife and I attended the board meeting in January/77 at Phoenix, Arizona which was a great success.

Report from Juris. VI

Sept. 12-15, 1976

Attended 86th Annual Convention of Hoo-Hoo International, in Albuquerque, New Mexico. Central New Mexico Club #69, did it again, the Hilton Inn was a great place and the local hospitality was outstanding. The crowds at the Wednesday luncheon and banquet were the largest in several years. I was elected once again as Supreme 9 member for Jurisdiction VI. I plan to do more traveling this year, than I did the past year, my health is much better and I am ready to go.

Sept. 20, 1976

With Bert LeBeck, SDS, and my son David L82806, I attended "Lou Goddard" night at Club #39 in Oakland, Calif. Lou Goddard has been a member of Hoo-Hoo for over 50 years. Lou is known as "Mr. Redwood" in the San Francisco Bay area. Also, in attendance was Dave Davis, Rameses #48. Dave was probably the most traveled "Snark" in Hoo-Hoo history. Our Rameses and other "old Timers" are very important to our great Fraternity.

October 19, 1976

Up to visit Club #109 in Sacramento, Calif. This was scheduled to be a "celebrity night entertainment affair" which it was. The added event was a Bert LeBeck night. Bert was presented a very large redwood plaque and also a "Life Membership Card" for Hoo-Hoo. Ninety-eight members and guests attended this meeting. Clubs represented were Oakland #39, San Francisco #9, Black Bart #181, Fresno Club #31, and Shasta Cascade Club #133. We had as guests 6 or 8 kittens just waiting for concat in November.

October 21, 1976

Didn't have much time to rest up as Bert LeBeck, "State Deputy Snark," Betty "Tour Director" and myself boarded Northwest Orient #747 at 10:00 A.M. the 20th for a visit to Honolulu Club #142. Club #142, had a great concat "long form" and a dinner

Attended Jurisdiction III's conference May 13 and 14th, where I renewed many acquaintances and met many more fellow Hoo-Hoo members.

In closing, I would like to thank all Executives and Members in Jurisdiction V for their co-operation during my term of Supreme 9 during the past two years, and it was a pleasure working with the officers and Supreme 9 Members.

I wish you all happiness and a long life.

at a Japanese Tea House. Three new kittens entered the land of the Great Black Cat. The teahouse dinner was as always, very delicious. On the way back to the hotel, Nagao Yamada "State Deputy Snark" of Hawaii, took us on a little tour of Honolulu. Club #142 members are seriously working on the 1979 Hoo-Hoo Convention. They are busy raising funds, ask Bert LeBeck and myself, and working on the program of activities.

November 16, 1976

Back up to Club #109, in Sacramento for the annual concat. Concat, meeting and dinner was held at the "Tuesday Club", in downtown Sacramento. I was very happy to serve as visiting officer, the degree team was made up of past Presidents of Club #109. The concat was very well conducted and 15 kittens passed through the onion patch to the land of the Great Black Cat. Once again Club #109 did it up right.

November 17, 1976

Another great meeting and concat at Club #181, in Ukiah, Calif. This meeting was held at the Ukiah Elks Club, on the Russian River. It was a very foggy night, but the attendance was still very good. Seven kittens found their ways into the Land of the Great Black Cat. Club #181, is one club who has members scattered from the Golden Gate Bridge to the Oregon border. Some members drive as much as 100 miles to attend these Club meetings.

November 21, 1976

Sunday, November 21, will be long remembered for a meeting to honor one of Sacramento Club #109's favorite members. This was "FRED SPENCER'S DAY". This meeting and dinner was held in Napa, at the Jones's two Horse Ranch. This was one time that Fred Spencer didn't know what was going on, HE was surprised. Fred was presented a plaque from Jurisdiction VI and was presented a jacket from Club #109. Fifty people attended this function and a good time was had by all.

December 10, 1976

Down to San Francisco for Club #9's annual Christmas Party. Club #9 has been sponsoring this party for over fifty years. Again this year they did a great job. This party is held annually for some of the underprivileged children of San Francisco. The place was the beautiful U.S. Marine Memorial building. This year's party was for the Columbia Park Boys' Club. Well done.

January 13-14-15, 1977

Spent January 13th at the S.F. International Airport waiting for the late planes with our Snark and Vice-President. Finally it all happened and we were on our way to Napa, after a refueling stop at the airport pub. Fortunately the guests for dinner were understanding, as the host party did not arrive at Napa until 9 P.M. Needless to say dinner was LATE.

Friday, we were up and at 'em early and on our way to Redding, for the Shasta-Cascade Club's annual Concat. With Bill Bader, as Co-pilot and Larn Champ as navigator, Betty found her way through the fog to Dunnigna and picked up two SDS, old reliable Bert LeBeck and Brent Crosby, and on to Redding. After a short night in Redding, we were on our way to Napa Valley for a wine tasting and dinner with the Sacramento Club Officers, again with the Jones's. Sunday, the Snark and V.P. were up, up and away home.

January 28, 1977

Traveled to Phoenix, Arizona to attend Hoo-Hoo International board meeting, for the members from Eastern Canada and Eastern U.S. the weather was like heaven. We had a good meeting and discussed several subjects important to Hoo-Hoo. There will be a lot of hard work ahead to get Hoo-Hoo turned around and headed in the right direction. I believe we started. Friday night January 28, Fritz Oligschlaeger and the Phoenix Club hosted a cocktail party for our directors and wives. This was one first class party. The Phoenix Club did it right, the Fraternalism was overflowing, that is what Hoo-Hoo is all about. Thanks again to the Phoenix Club and Jurisdiction VI. Visiting with this group brings back fond memories of the Phoenix Convention. Another pleasant surprise, to me, was the attendance of Jack Cheshire, Rameses #64 and Leonard Putnam, Rameses #65.

Feb. 3, 1977

Houston Club #23, isn't in Juris. VI, but I am a member of Club #23 and being so close, I just had to pay a visit to Houston. Had a luncheon meeting with Pres. Jim Brown and a couple of his officers. This club is already working on the 1981 Hoo-Hoo Convention.

Feb. 4th, 1977

Had a dinner meeting with Jim Brown, Gary Hester, Buddy Durham, Allan Gray and Ross Hunnicutt to discuss Albuquerque Convention and the up-coming Portland Convention. Houston Club #23 will have a large delegation in Portland as usual.

Feb. 9th

After spending almost a week in the Tucson, Arizona vicinity I was fortunate to participate in Tucson Club #110 Concat. This club had one great Concat. Five new kittens came through the Onion Patch to the Land of the Great Black Cat. This club really has enthusiasm and participation, they really practice the Golden Rule and live up to the Code of Ethics. Hooray for Club #110.

February 10, 1977

After a Frustrating day trying to get into the S.F. airport we finally made it back to Napa, to unpack and repack for our 3rd annual trip to Winema Club #216 Valentine dinner and dance party, in Klamath Falls, Oregon. This club isn't in Juris. VI either, but it is JUST across the border.

Feb. 11-12, 1977

After a flight cancellation in San Francisco and by playing a long shot, we finally arrived Klamath Falls, via Portland only 8 hours late. Snark Bill Bader, Pat and Kerry were also guests of the Winema Club. This is "THE" club that knows what Hoo-Hoo is all about. Thanks again to all of the officers and members of Club #216, all SFPOWTS members and to Rameses #60 and last but not least Rameses #65 Leonard Putnam and Tommy.

March 21, 1977

Up the Northern California Coast to Eureka to attend the 16th annual crab feed, complete with spaghetti, salad, french bread and wine. A concat was planned, but the kittens chickened out, will catch them the next go round. Had Hoo-Hoo members and guests from Seattle to San Diego. You that have eaten Humboldt crab know that it is the best in the world. The crowd was one of the largest ever.

April 15th

Up north to Willows, Calif. to the 4th annual Tri-Club meeting, Shasta Cascade, Feather River and Sacramento. Again the Club members showed up on charter buses for a gala time and a delicious steak dinner. Had a crowd of Approx. 100 in attendance. Among many topics discussed was the controversial expansion of the Redwood National Park. This is a real Hot Item in Juris. VI.

May 10th

Accompanied by our Redwood Grove Committee Chairman, Al Kerper, Roy Dunbar, Sam Witzel, and our Snark Bill Bader and 1st V.P. Larn Champ we again visited our Hoo-Hoo Redwood Grove at Prairie Creek State Park. The weather wasn't the very best, but we had a great time and took more slides for the Grove Presentation, at the Portland Convention. Again the hospitality of the State Park Rangers was outstanding, crab was in season as well as salmon, what else can you say.

June 17-18

Up to Lake County, Calif. to the beautiful Konocti-Harbor Inn for Black Bart Club #181, annual family weekend. Weather was wonderful, swimming great and the food out of this world. Had a good crowd, again it was a great get-together.

Unfortunately, due to previous commitments I was not able to attend the joint meeting in the L.A. area August 19. There continues to be a shortage of meeting notices, from several clubs. When notices are received late or dates changed, trying to get to all of the Clubs is almost impossible.

Most happy to report the membership of Jurisdiction VI has increased, maybe small but in the right direction.

Thanks to all of my State Deputy Snarks, they have assisted me all year in covering clubs that I was not able to cover for myself.

My calendar for 1977-78 is already filling up so get your meeting notices to me as soon as possible.

Fraternally,

James A. Jones L72703

Report from Juris. VII

My first thing to do was to attend the new board meeting in Albuquerque which unfortunately I had to leave for some time to have my car repaired so we could return home, as it was quite an expensive repair, I returned to the board meeting as quickly as possible, which was very successful. We then adjourned for dinner and a return home.

The next affair we attended was the dinner dance of the St. Louis Club #6 at the LeChateau Restaurant, invitations were sent to all the International officers to be our guest. As usual no one answered my letters and we held the dance just the same. We had a very nice crowd, about 135 people we always have gifts for the ladies and each one received a very nice gift. We had a very nice band and everyone there enjoyed themselves very much. We don't try to make money on this dance but we did make a little.

My wife and I were invited to the Rochester, Minn. club for their meeting and Christmas party. Also invited was Larn Champ and his wife. The first evening we were entertained by the lovely Donna Hess at her home. It was a wonderful evening, a lot more of the other club officers were there. We all missed Henry Hess very much as he was a very excellent officer as he served his time with Hoo-Hoo Int'l. The next day we took a tour around town. It was so cold we almost froze to death, then that night the club had its annual Christmas party at Holiday Inn downtown. This was a Gay 1920 party just like in the days of good old 1920's. Everyone there had a very good time and we all thanked the Rochester Club for inviting us to their affair.

We were invited to attend the Detroit Club for their annual meeting and Christmas party.

Larn Champ and myself attended this affair as my wife was not feeling the best. On Friday night we attended a cocktail party at which all the Detroit officers were there. We had a very nice time Friday. They had their annual Christmas party at a beautiful country club. The attendance was tremendous. They had to set up extra tables. It seemed to me that every person there received a gift. They had all kinds of raffles and give aways for attendance. All in all it was a very good affair. So we returned home again to start anew.

The next affair we attended was the Wichita Club Xmas party held at the downtown Ramada Inn Wichita. We were guests of the Champs for this affair. They are lovely hosts. We had a very lovely dinner and the meeting was very informative, pictures were shown and we had some guest speakers. All in all this was quite a wonderful affair and we enjoyed going to Wichita to see all our friends we have made there.

The next Hoo-Hoo affair was the board meeting in Phoenix, Arizona at the Wagon Wheel Motor Inn. This board meeting was very good. A lot was accomplished. Some new things were made law. The dues problem was brought before the board such as reinstatement and new increase of dues. A lot of old business was handled and whatever new business came before the meeting. I think all who attended had a very nice time.

St. Louis Club #6 held its first concat of the New Year 1977. And we held this affair at Tangarr'os Rest. On the south side we had a very nice attendance of about 45 members. We installed 5 new kittens, and we had a very nice steak dinner and we had some conversation with regards to the Interl. officers attending some of our affairs, our members read their Log and Tally. See how far the Interl. officers travel to and never get time to come to St. Louis, Mo.

Report from Juris. VIII

Now to hear from the heart of America...

Jurisdiction VIII is comprised of five states, including Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska, North Dakota, and South Dakota.

Activities within the various clubs in my jurisdiction have remained just as accelerated this past year as they were in 1976, therefore, to avoid repetition, I am concentrating my efforts and this report in the area of membership, as I feel this to be one of

The next affair was the very unsuccessful mini convention in Wichita, Kansas for Jurd. VII. The out of town attendance was absolutely unbelievable. I think about 8 or 10 people, they had a very nice program planned. It was interesting throughout. The luncheon and meals were very good as usual. The Champs entertained on Friday & Saturday nights and we were the guest of the Champs for these days. We enjoyed the whole affair very much but it sure is discouraging to work so hard and have it be attended by so few out of town people.

I worked on a letter campaign to revise some of these clubs that have went by the wayside. I sent out something like fifty or sixty letters to former officers including a self addressed stamped envelope to be returned to me with the answer as to get these clubs going again. This was the most discouraging experience I had for a long time I received two (2) return letters with very little suggestions to revise these clubs. It makes you think that all the effort you put into this is just done for nothing.

I did not get to go to the Houston Golf Tournament in May as I had other commitments at the time. I hope to do better this year if possible.

the most important aspects facing Hoo-Hoo today.

The clubs have spent a good deal of time this year trying to hold their present members, as well as, obtaining new members. Kittens appear very tough to come by in most localities throughout Jurisdiction VIII, however, I am pleased that we showed a 2.9% increase over our 1976 membership which is more growth than Hoo-Hoo International.

At present, I am serving on the Board of the Northwestern Lumbermen Association, which encompasses almost the exact geographic territory as Jurisdiction VIII in Hoo-Hoo. It is interesting to me to compare growth and total memberships within the two organizations, and I note that the Northwestern Lumbermen Association, for a one-year period ending August 31, 1977, only increased by a total of two members. I also note that each state remained with almost exactly the same number of members during that period. I should point out that the Northwestern membership is referred to by lumberyards rather than by individuals, however, I do feel that there is some significance, from the standpoint that we are talking about memberships in the lumber industry in basically the same territory.

I would like to make special mention of Twin Cities Club #12, who increased their membership by approximately 7%, Omaha Area Club #124 who increased their membership more than 10%, and Sioux Valley Club #118 who increased their membership more than 12% over the previous year.

I am disappointed that my jurisdiction has been unable to reactivate the Duluth, Fargo, and Waterloo Clubs, however, efforts are still being made to do so.

Report from Juris. IX

My 1976-77 Hoo-Hoo year got off to a resounding start as I started looking for gainful employment upon my return from the International Convention in Albuquerque. Having just started my new job on December 1, 1976 I was unable to attend the fall Board meeting and subsequently wasn't able to travel in my jurisdiction, partly because of the new job and partly because of the increase in business.

I had to rely mainly on the telephone to talk Hoo-Hoo business, calling solely on the slow or defunct clubs. The new club operations manual was sent to members of the inactive Jacksonville, Fla. Club and hopefully new officers will be installed this September.

I visited North Carolina to talk with lumbermen in hopes of getting a new club started.

In early August I went to Atlanta, Ga. to see my State Deputy Snark, Dick Wilson. The old timers will remember Dick as the man who was instrumental in reactivating Club #1 after being defunct some 11 years.

I reviewed the Operations Manual with members of my Club at the time it was presented to the membership. I have just reviewed it again with the 1977-78 Officers. I can report it was a good thing International has come up with and my commendation to those who did so much work to bring it into being.

One thing I am proud of that I accomplished this year was to find a man to take my place on the board. He is geographically located in the center of the jurisdiction and travels to every state in the jurisdiction. It is with great pleasure I nominate Dick Wilson for Jurisdiction IX Supreme Nine Representative.

In my eight years on the board I have met many wonderful people and want to extend my thanks to all the people I have worked with and serve under who have enriched my Hoo-Hoo affiliations and all the other nice amenities that went with the job.

I will continue to support Hoo-Hoo whenever and wherever I can. Fraternaly,
Robert E. Hayes

Report of Comm. On Administration

1. We approve and accept the reports of the treasurer, the other officers and the members of the Supreme Nine.

2. We recommend that the budget, as approved by the Board of Directors, shall be strictly adhered to and that no line item may be exceeded by more than 5% without prior approval of the Executive Committee.

3. We recommend that the Executive Secretary submit a quarterly trial balance to the Board of Directors.

4. We remind all members of the importance of submitting their annual dues by December 9.

5. We appreciate and compliment the officers and the members of the Supreme Nine for their dedicated efforts on behalf of our great fraternal order, with a note of special appreciation for their efforts in developing and providing, for the first time, a compendium of everything you ever wanted to know about Hoo-Hoo but never knew who to ask under the simple title, "Operations Manual."

6. We appreciate and compliment the staff of Hoo-Hoo International for their tireless and devoted attention to the details and specifics which have allowed our International Office to function efficiently and effectively to the benefit of all our members.

7. We appreciate and compliment the local club officers and all members of our great fraternal order for their support of the aims, the goals, the objectives, the purposes and the Code of Ethics of Hoo-Hoo International, especially No. 9 of that Code which states: "To recognize the abiding power of cooperation and organization and so to act as individuals that the International Order of Hoo-Hoo shall ever be regarded as an honorable source of community benefit and good will."

Report of Resolutions Committee

WHEREAS, Hoo-Hoo International has suffered the mortality of a number of our beloved members, be it resolved that our International Secretary be instructed to transmit to the families of these brothers our sincere sympathy and prayers; and

WHEREAS, the officers and members of the Supreme Nine have faithfully and effectively fulfilled their duties for the past Hoo-Hoo Year and have done so in exemplary fashion, be it resolved that the delegates assembled at this 87th International Convention extend thanks and appreciation of their individual clubs to each officer and Supreme Nine Member for that job well done; and

WHEREAS, our Executive Secretary, Clifford H. Cunningham, and his Administrative Assistant, Lois M. Neilson, have done an outstanding job in carrying out the affairs of our Order during the past year, and, particularly the commendable job they have done despite physical hardships, especially endured by our Executive Secretary, be it resolved that the Convention and its delegates wish Godspeed in Cliff's recovery and extend our sincere thanks to both these dedicated people; and that

WHEREAS, Snark of the Universe, William A. Bader has led our Order for the past year in an inspired and motivating manner, helping us to achieve higher goals and ideals by giving unselfishly and unstintingly of his time, energy and his multitude of talents, be it resolved that the convention delegates assembled offer their thanks to the Snark for his inspirational leadership throughout this great Hoo-Hoo year; and that

WHEREAS, through the guidance of our great Snark, William A. Bader, our club now has an Operations Manual of superior merit, and whereas this manual has been developed chiefly through the efforts of our Snark, with the assistance of our International staff, be it resolved that the convention delegates assembled offer their congratulations to the staff for this supreme effort and particularly acknowledge their gratitude to Snark Bill for conceiving and directing this monumental memento; and that

WHEREAS, the hard work, energy, time and efforts of the Portland Hoo-Hoo Club #47 has met with the enthusiastic support and approbation of the attending delegates and their wives, and especially are we grateful to their officers, therefore, be it resolved that the cordial thanks and sincere appreciation of all be extended to our gracious hosts and hostesses; and that

WHEREAS, the Toronto Hoo-Hoo Club #53 has graciously offered to host our 88th Annual Hoo-Hoo convention in 1978, be it resolved that the Order's LOG & TALLY magazine take such steps as are necessary and expeditious to publicize the Toronto Convention; and that

WHEREAS, Mr. A.L. Kerper L-44255, has served our Order faithfully for many years as Chairman of the Redwood Grove committee and through his untiring efforts has kept an eternal vigil on this hallowed ground with an ever alertness to any endangerment of ours and the public's best interest in the preservation and protection of our holdings therein and, in the furtherance thereof, has been leading, on our behalf, vigorous opposition to pending legislation which, if adopted, would not only infringe upon the use of private property but would also obligate the public to unneeded and unwarranted vast expenditures for the acquisition of additional forest preserve areas, while with minimal expenditures, present adequate facilities could be better utilized by providing improved access roads, trails and campsites, and whereas it is Hoo-Hoo's avowed purpose to continue its opposition to these governmental infringements upon property rights, be it therefore resolved that the delegates to this convention hereby commend Chairman Kerper for his outstanding service in this field, that we reaffirm our position of strong opposition to any such type of infringing legislation and that Chairman Kerper be, and is hereby empowered on behalf of Hoo-Hoo International to register strong protests and opposition to any and all such attempted or proposed legislation and to continue to take such further action as may be deemed desirable by our Board of Directors to best achieve those ends, and

WHEREAS, Hoo-Hoo International is a fraternal organization made up of lumbermen concerned about each other in the spirit of Health, Happiness and Long Life, and

WHEREAS, involvement in the lumber and forest products industry is a part of the insurance of our individual Health, Happiness and Long Life, be it resolved that Hoo-Hoo International continue to support the efforts of industry organizations who promote a better understanding of the forest as a renewable resource and as such must be managed in a manner to best serve the interests of production and ecology.

WE, the Officers and Directors of Hoo-Hoo International, do hereby put our seal to these resolutions on this 13th day of September, 1977, in Portland, Oregon acting in the spirit of fraternity, industry and goodwill.

Robert VanEvery, Chairman

A Grand 87th Annual Convention!

What a fantastic convention it was in the beautiful Portland "City of Roses". The weather was a gorgeous 70 degrees and the skies were sunny the entire four days of our 87th Annual. I'd have to say the Portland team must have said their nightly prayers because it wasn't until the day the Hoo-Hoos were leaving, as one Hoo-Hoo wife put it, that the "clouds began to cry".

Pre-Convention Board Meeting

Our Hoo-Hoo Board of Directors got right down to business one day before the official convention was to begin. Various items important to Hoo-Hoo's future were discussed and debated during the over 6 hours of the meeting's duration.

Bill Russell, Secretary/Treasurer, making a point as Chairman, Tom Partridge looks on.

Your Supreme Nine, as your district representative, will be bringing the fruits of these discussions to your attention as they visit with your club over the coming months.

Icebreaker

The convention festivities began in style with the opening cocktail buffet on Saturday, September 10th. Old friends were reunited and new acquaintances were sought and enjoyed.

Getting together at the Icebreaker.

The chef was at the cutting board with savory roast beef sliced to order. And a variety of tasty salads and appetizers were on hand to tempt every palate.

Enjoying the Icebreaker buffet.

All and all it was a well planned and thoroughly enjoyable evening and a great way to start what was to be one of the best conventions ever.

Our thanks to the North Cascade Hoo-Hoo Club #230 and to Sammons Trucking for their support of this event.

1st Business Session

The business session opened with the presentation of colors and the invocation of God's blessings on this day and the following days of the convention. Then the delegation received welcoming remarks from the City Commissioner of Portland Frank Ivancie and from Portland club president, Louie Buschbacher.

Dave Marteney, Rameses 67, took the podium to begin the official business of the day with a discussion of the Hoo-Hoo Operations Manual. He explained various portions of the work and the benefits it has to offer club officers in the daily duties as Hoo-Hoo leaders.

It was noted that the manual would be continually updated and expanded in the coming years. And it was hoped that each chapter would avail themselves of its guidelines and helpful suggestions. The session then broke for coffee sponsored by the Denver & Rio Grande Railway.

Snark, Bill Bader enjoys presenting the awards to the International Officers.

Men's Luncheon

The delegates gathered for cocktails which were sponsored by the Tacoma Olympia and Seattle Clubs after which lunch, supported by the Rogue Valley Club and Union Pacific Railroad, was served.

Okay, we're ready!

Guest speaker for the afternoon was Alex Kirnak, Consultant to the Forest Products Industry. Mr. Kirnak showed a very informative film on the lumber industry back in the 30's.

A few Hoo-Hoos enjoying some pre-luncheon chat.

This presentation was followed by the Jurisdiction reports of the Supreme Nine which can be found elsewhere in this issue.

Our Portland Convention Chairman, Lex Taylor.

The Redwood Grove, a portion of the Redwoods State Park at Orick, California to which Hoo-Hoo holds title, was brought to the delegate's attention by Al Kerper, Chairman and diligent overseer of the Redwood Grove Committee.

Al noted, among other interesting facts, that the 10 acre Hoo-Hoo Grove which was purchased in 1969 for the amount of $12,400 ($6,200 of which was contributed by Hoo-Hoo members and the rest matched by the state) if purchased today would cost over $250,000.

Through the efforts of Mr. Kerper and the members of his committee, we now have a slide presentation of the Grove which was viewed by the convention delegates. Very shortly this presentation will be available to your Supreme Nine members for viewing by all visited clubs in their jurisdiction. Our thanks to Al Kerper and his committee for making this presentation possible.

The candidates for office gave short presentations and took time for any questions from the floor. By 4 o'clock p.m., the meeting was adjourned and members and wives looked forward to an evening at the Western Forestry Center. (See coverage of Ladies' Program elsewhere in this issue.)

Western Forestry Center

What an ideal site to entertain a group of lumbermen, the Western Forestry Center at Portland. Even those members weaned on lumber had a few things to learn and appreciate at this center of timber scientism and education.

Our Hoo-Hoo members and ladies on their way to an educational and fun filled evening at the Western Forestry Center.

The Willamette Valley Club #33 also assisted the members in the workings of the mind with their generously poured hospitality. Funny thing though, I hear there were times when the Willamette mixologists were void of customers! I have a feeling this was taken care of, however, before the evening was through.

I'd say the Willamette Valley members enjoyed their tasks this evening and I know we enjoyed them.

Come on Fellows, you can do it!

The next call came from the drums of Darrell Pardee summoning Hoo-Hoo members and ladies to the door of a delectable salmon barbecue and the entertainment of the unique Bow & Arrow Club—yes Indian dancers in full feathered array.

"Come and get it!" says Darrell Pardee as he summons us to the salmon barbecue.

Many enjoyable saunterings awaited us yet—it was time after over six years to return to the Western Forestry Center, from whence it came — "Silvers", the stick which had first been presented to Len Putnam and later Bill McLean of the Winema Club for dissemination and collection of signatures and donations from Hoo-Hoo clubs all over the globe.

Portland Club President Louie Buschbacher (left) presenting "Slivers" to Rich Apple, Education Director at the Western Forestry Center.

Well, Hoo-Hoo's, you came through once again and enabled the Portland delegates to present to the center over $2,000.00 toward further research and development of our timberlands.

A Hoo-Hoo couple admire the insensivity of the "Talking Tree" within the Western Forestry Center.

I might add that this presentation brought on waves of contests and challenges among individuals and clubs not unlike the most profound fund raising event you've ever witnessed.

There was even a "minislivers" unearthed by member Bert LeBeck of the Sacramento Club and brought around to the Hoo-Hoo hotel rooms for even more donations!

It was an ideal spot for friendly conversation.

We have since received a very gracious letter from the Western Forestry Center expressing their thanks and sincere gratitude for Hoo-Hoo's generosity and continued interest in the Center's work. (See letter on page 3.)

Hoo-Hoo Fraternalism and Internationalism was at its peak this mellow evening as Jurisdiction IV in Australia arose on stage to present an exhibit of their native timbers to the Forestry Center. This was followed by a singing rendition of—what else but "Waltzing Matilda". All at once the entire room of over 350 U.S. and Canadian members and ladies joined in song with all of the friendly feeling and frivolity that was abound in the air. It was just a delightful evening all around.

Our Australian members singing "Waltzing Matilda".

Golf Tourney & Broughton Mill Tour

Monday, September 12th was a day where conventioners were free to play at golf or set out for a day's journey to the Columbia River Gorge and the Broughton Lumber Mill. The weather was just perfect for both events as can be attested by the enthusiastic turnouts.

Men's & Ladies Golf Tourney

A record 52 golfers turned out for this tourney held at the scenic Riverside Golf & Country Club in Portland.

Roy Reed of Houston, Texas walked away quite happy with his winning low gross score of 76, a score which also won him what will be the envy of the course—a bright orange & black-catted Hoo-Hoo golf bag. I guess your friends will know where to spot you on that course now, Roy!

"Okay, guys we've got the first challenge in." That's Earl Chalfan, Golf Chairman and Bill Whitehead of Missouri Pacific Railroad.

The women's low gross and also the women's perpetual trophy for best lady golfer was awarded to Jo Sanders, also of Houston.

Joe Sanders of Houston, winner of the women's low gross shown here with Louie Buschbacher presenting her Hoo-Hoo golf bag.

Doug Donald, of the Victoria Club in Canada took the men's 2nd low gross with Babara Conlin & June Lucas both of Portland, Oregon tying for the women's 2nd low gross.

We had another Texan, Joe Breeden of Houston winning the longest drive for the men. And it was Lucinda Hughes who won it for the ladies.

President of the Portland Club, Louis Buschbacher presenting the beautiful Hoo-Hoo golf bag to winning low gross golfer, Roy Reed of Houston.

Bill & Pati Johnson of Terra Linda, California captured the low net. Other awards were given to Mike Carl, Dee Bond and not to go unmentioned, the Duffer's trophy went to one of our gracious Hawaiian Suite hosts, "Yammy" Yamada of Honolulu.

"Yammy" Yamada of Honolulu received the Duffers Trophy from Ted Fullmer in good humor.

Broughton Mill Tour

Though the golf outing had quite a few takers, there were at least 3 busloads of Hoo-Hoo's who opted for the scenic tour of the Columbia River Gorge, with the majestic snow-capped Mts. Hood, Ranier & St. Helens in the backdrop.

During the tour we made a stop at Multnomah Falls & Multnomah Falls Lodge which gave us an aerial view of the Columbia River & beautiful mountain-side.

There's Shorty Ford, Past President of the Twin Cities Club, hamming it up a bit with Lois Neilson of the Norwood Hoo-Hoo office and Regina McCarthy, also of Norwood, Mass.

Our next stop was a refreshing break of ice cold beer and picnic lunch in the park hosted by the Paulina Club #220. They even had an outhouse set up for us—made of wood of course!

Looks like our spirited group from the Snark's state of Kansas with Loren Irving of the Paulina Club, standing.

There's our President at the helm?

Sandwiches anyone?

Here's a few more of ur group picnicking among the trees before heading to the Broughton Mill.

After lunch we proceeded on to the Broughton Mill at Underwood, Washington where we were met by a guide who directed us to the mill's famous 9 mile flume.

The history of the flume began in 1913, when for the first time, 30 sec. feet of water was released from an earth filled dam on the Little White Salmon River to start its nine mile journey one thousand feet below. Here it would return to the Columbia River, the entire process taking about 55 minutes.

The flume at Broughton Mill.

This volume of water transports rough sawn lumber (cants), from the Broughton sawmill at Willard, Washington to its remanufacturing plant and shipping point at Hood, Washington on the BN Railroad.

The flume, it is said, is capable of transporting between 40/50 million board feet of lumber per year. The lumber is automatically placed into the flume by chains, so there is no loading expense involved with the exception of two men who are stationed below to see that the lumber is taken out in an orderly manner.

An interesting note in the mill's brochure on the flume noted that the flume had been featured in various magazines & newspapers including "Life" & "Argosy." It also mentioned that the flume had been part of a television "Lassie" series and even a Walt Disney movie. So there was a little something here for everyone at the Broughton Mill. We then went on to visit the top of the mountain at Willard where the lumber originated and witnessed the logs being debarked and cut for their trip down the flume. A full story of the flume's construction can be read elsewhere in this issue.

Wine & Cheese Party

The evening's festivities brought us to the Snark, Bill Bader's suite for an enjoyable evening of wine & cheese tasting sponsored by next year's convention hosts The Toronto Hoo-Hoo Club #53. The suite was decked out with colorful posters of what we have to look forward to in the beautiful city of Toronto together with little red hearts from the Toronto Chamber of Commerce which were placed on lapels and dresses and added an affectionate touch which everyone seemed to enjoy.

There's Joe Cusack, Supreme Nine Rep for Jurisdiction I, with Colin Wilson, President emeritus of Australia, and Betty Jones of California enjoying the Toronto Club's hospitality.

Thank you, Toronto, we will look forward to seeing you in 1978!

2nd Business Session

The 2nd Business Session began promptly at 8:59 Tuesday, September 13th with reports given by the Resolution, Legislative Administrative and Budget Committees along with comments on Hoo-Hoo Membership and Future conventions.

Legislative Action!

The Resolutions Committee formulated a resolution opposing a bill put forth by Congress in favor of expanding the already expansive parklands of California, a move which would be detrimental to not only the lumber interests but also to the already depressed economy of the state. The resolution suggested that instead of expanding, the state develop better usage of the existent parklands.

A vote was taken on the floor and passed to accept the resolution and forward it on to Washington, D.C. in the name of Hoo-Hoo International, which since has been accomplished.

Our new Snark, Larn Champ (left) with Doug Howick of the Melbourne Club who enlightened us on Australia and its possibilities as a 1982 convention site.

Membership

The report on Membership acknowledged that this year Hoo-Hoo had gained ranks in every Jurisdiction with the exception of two Jurisdictions whose loss was minimal. Thus Hoo-Hoo's overall gain for the year was almost 200 members.

Congratulations to the club officers and Supreme nine for their efforts.

We also received requests for 23 Life Memberships this year as opposed to an average of 7 in the past. A special welcome to our 23 new lifetime members.

Future Conventions

Our upcoming convention sites will be: Toronto, Canada in 1978; Honolulu, Hawaii in 1979; Atlanta, Georgia, 1980 and Houston, Texas in 1981.

Our best wishes to J-IV Australia, we hope they can put together a package for 1979 so that we can look forward to a gathering in the land down-under in 1982.

Complete reports on the Legislative, Administrative and Resolutions Committee may be read elsewhere in this issue.

Wood Promotion Contest

The Annual International Wood Promotion Trophy was contested for by five Hoo-Hoo clubs this year including Adelaide #212 of Australia whose presentation on Adelaide's Christmas toy project, was given by Doug Howick of the Melbourne club, Australia.

The 2nd entry was that of the Billings Club #130 of Billings, Montana, presented by Ken Heist who spoke of the club's annual woodworking contest for High School students among other of their club projects.

The 3rd presentation was given by Morris Douglas for the Cowichan Valley Club #229 of Duncan, B.C., Canada. Morris spoke of the club's various projects including their support of a forestry camp for boys.

Tom Patridge (right), Chairman of the Wood Promotion Contest, assisting Morris Douglas with his visual aids. Morris was representing the Cowichan Valley Club #229.

Next was Fred Long, Past President of the Sacramento Club #109 of Sacramento, California who spoke on the club's charitable donation of numerous picnic benches which were also put together by the members for a foster children's home in the area.

Fred Long of the Sacramento Club delivers his club's pitch for the Trophy.

Kathy Hecht, the Spokane Club #16's first female associate member, delivered the club's presentation on the members' involvement with the local High School's forestry program in Spokane, Washington. Kathy discussed the members' donation of time in such areas as teaching logger sports, advising in the expansion and balancing of the forestry program curriculum, conducting plant tours and coming to the school as speakers.

The results of their efforts, according to Kathy, who is herself a teacher at the high school and involved in the forestry program, is that students who used to have primarily a Forestry orientation have now become more realistic about wood use. Also by meeting these enthusiastic supporters of the Forest Products Industries, they have begun to see themselves in other roles."

The decision of the committee was an extremely difficult one for all the participants are to be congratulated for their presentations and the worthwhile programs their clubs have for the furtherance of wood and its use.

The winner—chosen on the basis of club size, involvement of members, immediate & lasting effect on the community, and written & oral presentation—was the Spokane Hoo-Hoo Club #16 of Spokane, Washington. Their full report may be read on page of this issue.

We thank those clubs who entered the competition of this year and we hope that these and other Hoo-Hoo clubs will continue to participate in this contest in the years ahead.

Kathy Hecht of the Spokane Club, pretty happy about being able to accept the Wood Promotion Trophy for her club's effort over the year.

Joint Luncheon

The business session broke for cocktails sponsored by the Vancouver Club #48 of Vancouver, B.C. and the Kinzua Corporation followed by lunch which was supported by Pope &

Talbot, Inc. and the Green Peter Club #226 of Salem, Oregon.

Guest speaker for the luncheon was Tom McCall, former Governor of Oregon whose topic was the Oregon story and its beginnings as a lumbering state. Following Mr. McCall's interesting talk, the presentations of golf and other awards were handed out.

Former Governor of Oregon, Tom McCall congratulates Larn Champ on his election as President Louie Buschbacher looks on.

Gord Doman, Past Supreme Nine member for Jurisdiction V, Canada, and now 2nd V.P. accepts the coveted International Membership Trophy for his Jurisdiction which last year realized the largest gain in membership. Our congratulations to Jurisdiction V - Canada and Alaska!

At this time, there was an award given for the first time to the member holding the lowest Hoo-Hoo number in attendance at the convention. Our thanks to the Sacramento Club #109 for donating his perpetual trophy and our congratulations to Lorin Swift #34021 of the Sacramento Club for receiving this award.

Lorin Swift #34021 of the Sacramento Club proudly accepts the perpetual trophy for the member holding the lowest Hoo-Hoo number in attendance at the convention. That's Bert LeBeck (left) making the presentation.

Jim Jones, S-9 for Jurisdiction VI, is presented the "George Meuth Walking Stick" from Vice President, Gene Zanck for being the most travelled Supreme Nine within his Jurisdiction. Congratulations, Jim!

Hoo-Hoos from Washington D.C. discuss the happenings of the day over lunch.

Concat

Fifteen kittens were initiated at the convention concat with still official Snark, Bill Bader presiding. The new members initiated were as follows: DeVere F. Allen of Allen Forest Products; Michael E. Allen of the same company; William R. Bond, Jr. of Permapos Products, Robert O. Bye of Union Pacific R.R., Jerry D. Cole of Wood Markets, Inc.; Lee Haskin, National Forest Products Co.; Michael H. Karl of Burlington Northern;

Roy Kruger of Kruger & White Mfg.; Robert K. Nelson of Northern Yards, Inc.; Jack Pilgreen, Alpine Veneers; Peter Traas, Louisiana-Pacific; Ludwig H. Turenne, Orgon Bldg. Products; Henry G. Wells, Pacific Commercial; Larry White, Kruger & White Mfg.; and Dan M. Wyatt of National Transfer, Inc.

We'd like to welcome once again, these new members to the Hoo-Hoo fraternity.

Kittens initiated at the Portland convention.

Elections

Following the report of the nominating committee, the elections of Snark, 1st V.P., 2nd V.P. and Supreme nine for the odd numbered Jurisdictions got under way.

Elected to these posts were: Larn Champ, Snark; Gene Zanck, 1st V.P.; Gord Doman, 2nd V.P.; Joe Cusack, S-9 Juris. 1; Dan Brown, S-9 Juris. 3; George Pletch, S-9 Juris. 5; Gary Hester, S-9 Juris. 7; and Dick Wilson, S-9 Juris. 9.

Embalming of the Snark

The sacred embalming of the Snark, Bill Bader, with Rameses #65, Leonard Putnam presiding, took place at 3:59 p.m.

Also presiding, at what has become a most comic melodrama, were past Snarks; Ernie Wales, Tom Partridge, Dave Marteney, Phil Dawson and Jack Cheshire.

Bill Bader, left, enjoying himself prior to the embalming, (ctr) Rob Lamb of Australia with Phil Dawson, Rameses #66.

A hilarious highlight of the afternoon ocured our austere Philip Dawson, Rameses #66 and our corporate brain arose from his seat at the "altar", tearing off his black bow tie and overshirt and displaying a black T-shirt upon which was inscribed in large yellow lettering "The Best Snark—Philip Dawson". Turning around while flexing his arm muscles, we viewed on the back, in letters brighter than a neon sign, Phil's company name, Sibley Lumber.

Jack Cheshire, Rameses #64 member of the House of Ancients and our illustrious embalming team.

Phil's beautiful antics just brought the house down. I wonder if our now Rameses #69, Bill Bader, whose back was to the "altar" ever did find out what all that hilarity was about!

Presentation of the New Snark

Larn Champ L75820 donned the official white robe of the Snark of the Universe and all offered their congratulations to Larn as we do upon election. Then all began readying for a night of dining and dancing at the Snark's Reception and final Banquet.

Entertainment began with the sparkling toe tapping, finger snapping music of "The Mary Lee Singers." What a thoroughly enjoyable group they were.

"The Mary Lee Singers" rev up for some peppy entertaining.

We were honored to have our own Donna Buschbacher, lovely wife of the Portland Hoo-Hoo President, entertain as a member of the Mary Lee Singers and what a beautiful voice she has.

Bill receives his Rameses pin from wife Pat as Chairman Lex Taylor looks on.

Larn is congratulated by his wife Maxine.

Following dinner there was a break for various presentations emceed by our capable convention chairman, Lex Taylor. One of the presentations included one of the best rigged toilet seats you've ever seen. This was presented to Larn Champ complete with attached

Snark's Reception & Banquet

The Snark's Reception supported by the Winema Club #216 started off with all of the pageantry and excitement of a Royal ball.

Everyone arrived decked out in their best attire and ready for what was to be an evening truly fit for a kingdom.

telephone and even toilet tissue (sandpaper that is!)

Here's the Snark's throne, complete with telephone!

Another unique presentation to this convention was a plaque given to the member holding the lowest Hoo-Hoo number in all of International. This was presented to the St. Louis Club #6 for presentation to Reuben Morriss #11351. Congratulations, Reuben, and may you have many more healthy, happy days in Hoo-Hoo.

Many thanks and praises were offered the Portland members for their work on the convention. A speech was given by our new Snark on his thoughts and plans for Hoo-Hoo during the coming year. It was accented that he hoped this would be a year filled with brotherly love and a continuous growth of our Hoo-Hoo fraternity.

"You better plant them trees quick, 'cause you can't keep those southern pines down!" says Dick Wilson, new Supreme Nine rep from Georgia, shown here with his wife Fran.

Dick Wilson of Atlanta, Georgia, site of the 1980 convention, provided a colorful southern touch with the presentation to all attendees of the southern loblolly pine which, he remarked enthusiastically, would grow through the roof in no time if they weren't planted very quickly. Dick added that "That's the way they grow 'em down in Georgia!"

The festivities continued with Len Putnam, Rameses #65 along with his aides, doing their comic SFPWTS (Society for the Preservation of Wooden Toilet Seats) initiations whereby each initiate received his emblem of a wooden toilet seat (full size, except for some who only got half a seat) placed around his neck. It was a funny routine which all enjoyed.

"Okay, men, put your left hand on your head and your right hand on your Hoo-Hoo!", says Len Putnam, as he begins the initiation of the new SFPWTS.

A fantastic convention came to a beautiful close and a nice finishing touch with dancing to (let the name not fool you—they were great) the "Louseman's Lousy Loggers". Thank you once again Portland Hoo-Hoo's and contributing companies and members of Jurisdiction III for a job well done.

Ladies Tour & Luncheon

While the Hoo-Hoo men were having their Business session and luncheon on Sunday, the Hoo-Hoo ladies also had plenty of activities planned for them.

The morning began at 9:15 with a hop on the bus for a guided tour of the city conducted by Portland Walking Tours. One of our first stops was to visit the Historical Pittock Mansion, a French Renaissance building begun in 1909 by Henry L. Pittock, founder of Portland's Daily Oregonian.

The Lewis & Clark Exposition of 1905 had given the city of Portland a new pride and this architectural masterpiece was an example of what could be accomplished locally.

It was noted that the architect of the Mansion was an Edward T. Foulkes of San Francisco who supervised construction of the building until its completion in 1914. Workshops were built on the grounds where stone and wood were handcarved following Foulkes' detailed drawings. Built of reinforced concrete, faced with Tenino stone, the Mansion is said to be virtually fireproof. Steel reinforced concrete floors covered with fine hardwoods and marble; lustrous marbles, cast bronze, hardwoods and plaster placed artistically throughout.

In 1964, the City of Portland purchased the Pittock Mansion and its 46 acre tract of grounds. The Mansion is now furnished with French Renaissance, Victorian, Georgian and Jacobean influences. A Turkish smoking room, a style in vogue in the late 19th and 20th centuries, has the ceiling paint and Tiffany glaze on the walls unretouched. Anyone who enjoys architecture and the beauty that can be created through that medium would not have missed this visit today.

Of course, being in the "City of Roses", it was a must to take a stroll through the beautiful multi-colored sights and perfumed aromas of the Rose Test Gardes. It is said that there are over 200 variations of the flower in these gardens alone!

For our luncheon engagement, it was cantonese dining at the elegant Jade West restaurant located in the international award-winning Portland Center. The food was just scrumptious, our compliments to the menu planner, Anna Dugan.

Our emcee for the afternoon, and also the Chairwomen for the Ladies Convention Committees, was Donna Buschbacher who did a fantastic job along with her Committeewomen, Mae Taylor, Vice Chairman and Anna Dugan who also helped with the many door prizes which were handed out.

There's Lana Kamerer, one of the lovely Hoo-Hoo wives who participated in the fashion show at the Jade West restaurant.

The Portland Club ladies were also evident as models in the Fashion Show which entertained us as we dined. Our thanks to Mary Ellen Fullmer and the other ladies who planned this show for us and also to the models including June Lucas, Rosemary Pein, Paulette Pardee and any of the other ladies who I may not have mentioned. You'd never have known modeling was not their profession—they did a super job.

Spokane Club #16 Presentation September 13, 1977 Portland, Oregon

By Kathy Hecht

The Spokane Club, under the guidance of President Norm Mikalson, got themselves actively involved in the Forestry program at Rogers High School with the idea of overcoming the "bad guy" role in which the wood industry is often cast.

This project was primarily a manpower project with time donated in many ways. As an example, Bob Grotefend, Arnold Hiebert, and Maury Vogel, worked as advisors in expanding and balancing the curriculum. Alvie Marcellus taught logging sports. John Howard, Vice-President, Gene Zanck, International 2nd Vice-President, Chuck Dehner, and Larry Tooke, conducted plant tours and came as speakers, introducing students to the Forest Products Industries and the part they play in the students to the Forest Products Industries and the part they play in the students lives. From interchanges like these there evolved some new job goals and employment opportunities for these kids after graduation.

The results? Students who used to have primarily a Forestry orientation have now become more realistic about wood use. By meeting these enthusiastic supporters of the Forest Products Industries, they begin to see themselves in other roles.

Many of you may not be aware of the developing Forestry programs at the high school level. Already well-informed students are entering community college and college programs with their job goals set and their attitudes toward wood usage already determined. With the exception of Spokane Club #16, very few Forest Products industries personnel are taking advantage of their chance to help develop attitudes.

This is a brief look at the program at Rogers High School in Spokane, Washington, a very representative program of many schools now teaching Forestry.

In the beginning, prior to any Hoo-Hoo Club involvement, the program seemed complete, including such topics and skills as: Plant identification, Basic forest measurements, Work with map and compass. The basics of surveying and the math, or trig, that goes along with it, Wildlife conservation, Silviculture, and conservation and preservation.. This is considered, basically, a good Forestry program. No real study was made of forest products. Then entered the Hoo-Hoo Club.

Maury Vogel of the US Forest Service made contacts which led to a work-experience program in the woods. The students spend a week away from classes and school working for and with people in the Forest Service. They have worked on projects ranging from brush planting to campground rehabilitation and have grown up doing so.

Because of their exposure to management, we had to start looking at the good as well as the bad in timber management. And with that we looked at logging.

Bob Grotefend and Arnold Hiebert helped guide the college-bound youngsters into 2-year and 4-year college natural resources programs. A bonus was Alvie Marcellus teaching them college logger sports.

Next came the exposure to the Forest Products Industries. Students toured plants with Gene Zanck, John Howard, Chuck Dehner, and Larry Tooke. These men also came into the classroom to present programs and to answer questions, embarrassing ones like how much money do you make, do you employ women in management, and how do you protect the environment? Their answers surprised the students and opened their eyes to an aspect of Forestry that they had turned away from before.

After graduation, many of these students go on to higher education; some go to work for themselves or their dads in the woods; some simply become wiser in their demands on the forests; and some go to work for the men they have met through Hoo-Hoo involvement in their high school education.

The program is better and more balanced now, due to the time and support of the members of Spokane Club #16. Hoo-Hoo was only the vehicle; the members did it, not the club itself. Hoo-Hoo opened doors by making it easy to meet people willing to be speakers, willing to take students on tour, willing to

San Joaquin Club #31 Fresno, Calif.

Bernie Barber, Jr., reporting for the San Joaquin Hoo-Hoo Club #31 tells us that at the Club's 3rd Annual Coast Frolics held last July, the following officers were elected:

President: Gordon Knott. North Vice President: Terry Huntsman. South Vice President: Bill Oberholser. Sec/Treas: B.B. Barber, Jr. Sargeant - At - Arms: Wally Kennedy.

The Directors are Craig Gaffney, Dale Winslow, Don Johnson, and Bob Schlotthauer.

The Vicegerent Snark is Ted Mathews.

"The Coast Frolics as usual was a very successful endeavor and everyone had a good time. General Chairman Bill Oberholser made all the arrangements for golf and dinner, and we had a record turnout for both."

A fun time for everyone present.

contribute ideas, and willing to write letters and locate teaching materials. The Forestry program in Spokane is better for it.

Greater results are yet to come and are right now immeasurable. We all hope to extend the interface between high school students and industry representatives. With the help of Norm Mikalson, now past-President, we would like to incorporate student help in Hoo-Hoo Club projects, helping open doors for them. Members of Spokane Club #16 know the results will benefit all of us as they are realized.

Granite State Club #107 Manchester, NH

Joe Kuczynski, reporting for the New Hampshire Club, has announced the newly elected officers. They are: Robert Silberblatt, President; Eugene Randlett, V.P.; Dominic Chieralla, V.P.; Joseph Kuczynski, Secretary, and Emile Bernard, Treasurer.

The first meeting of the new Hoo-Hoo year will be held on October 17th at the Junkyard Restaurant in Manchester, N.H. The featured speaker will be Aarin "Ace" Mavrogeorge, a member of the U.S.S. Massachusetts Association. He is a former member of the crew of the battleship which first saw action at Casablanca and later in the Pacific, and will show a motion picture and some stills of the famed fighting ship.

Our tentative schedule for the year includes a Ladies Night at the races on November 21st at Rockingham Park.

December 14th will be a regular meeting night with a featured speaker.

On February 15th there will be a special Past President's Night.

A concat is planned for March 20th.

April 19th we plan a "New Products" night in the seacoast area.

In May we plan a special bus trip to a Red Sox game at Fenway Park—possibly in conjunction with the Maine Club.

Of course in June we are planning our annual Clambake at Dover Point. Always a big show.

Greater Miami Club #42

Miami, Florida

I would like to report that we had a very successful meeting last month and everyone who attended had a good time.

We had prizes donated by Cooper Lumber Sales, MacVicar Wells Lumber Co., Booker & Co., American Forest Products & Southern Door.

Prizes were won by Al Colletti, Bob Turner, George Guilbert, Jim Brock, Ken Lessing, and Bill Rucker. The cash jackpot was forfeited by Jeff Barnes due to the fact that he was not present.

Attention! Club Secretaries

Please forward your club's list of 1977-78 offices, including their names & addresses to the International Office as soon as possible.

This will enable us to place their names on the officers' mailing list and also include their names in the officers' directory to be published in the February Log & Tally. Thank you.

Rogue Valley Club #94

Medford, Oregon

Last Summer the Rogue Valley Hoo-Hoo Club #94 held its annual Family Night at the Rogue Valley Country Club. Ben Evans was the Master of Ceremonies and the entertainment was provided by "Miss Rogue Valley", Joyce Warrell and the guitar group of Craig Steel and K.C. Crane.

A drawing was held and a brand new 10-speed bike was presented to six year old Anita Cowan, grand-daughter of Ernia Hadley.

Enjoying the outing are Bob Hodgins, Annon Aires, Larry Whetter, Dean Norman and Wayne Chamberlin.

The Rogue Valley Golf Club was the scene of the 1977 Rogue Valley Club #94's annual Golf Tournament at which over 200 members and guest participated.

The day was filled with golf; refreshments, contests and food and everyone went home after a very active day.

Winema Club #216

Klamath Falls, Ore.

Mid-July was the time of the Winema Club's annual pilgrimage to Eagle Ridge's Hoo-Hoo Park, a splendid scenic promontory jutting into Klamath Lake deep in the heart of Weyerhaeuser's tree farm, surrounded on three sides by the clear limpid waters of the great Gitchee Guumee, with a passable view of Mountain Lakes wilderness area. We fried steaks (delicious,) we drank considerable beer and only a little less whiskey, and we held up the guests for donations to the coffers of the club.

Actually, "Hard Sell" Schmidt was responsible for getting more donations than anybody else. Since this is a bona fide guest function, there was a number of very suspect Hoo-Hoos present from such marginally woodsy occupations as haberdasher, medical doctor and assorted hangers on.

True to the traditions of Hoo-Hoo, most of the members present took advantage of the occasion to renew face-to-face associations with those they have been talking to on the 'phone all year long. Of course as the evening progressed and darkness fell, face-to-face took on a different meaning. The assembled throng began to depart shortly after the drawings for the door prizes, and the moon rose at midnight over a quiet, deserted promontory.

Fred Ehlers reports that there were about 350 in attendance, counting those who swam up and, mercifully, there was no local news coverage.

Right after the convention, fifty assorted Snarks, Rameses, their ladies and assorted scrofulous hangers-on descended on Klamath Falls for Winema's September meeting. They were assembled in Portland, Orrygum, just after the convention and escorted in elegant style to the Shangrila of the High Valley by none less than Leonard Putnam, 'ol Rameses #65 himself.

On arrival they were treated to a famous welcome by the members of the local organization complete with Klamath County hospitality and a rattlesnake dinner, topped off with a roast of Putnam by some local talent, Honorary Kitten Barney Cavanaugh.

VIP's attending were Larn Champ, Snark, his charming wife, and Rameses Phil Dawson, Tom Partridge, Bob Johnson, Jim Jones and Jack Cheshire. Supreme Nine Member, Jim Jones, was on hand to prevent the affair from getting out of hand.

Highlights of the evening included some presentations of obscure trophies by the Corinthian Hangers-on, and the high desert Moonshine for which Winema is justly famous.

Television station KOTI covered the affair that had 150 in attendance.

Houston Club #23

Houston, Texas

Leonard Craig, reporting for the Houston Club #23 tells us that club met August 25th at the Marriott Hotel in Houston. It was a regular monthly meeting, and the main business was the election of officers for the new Hoo-Hoo year.

We also appointed committees for the new year and decided on delegates to attend the convention in Portland.

On September 22nd, the club held a concat and brought 13 new members into the Order. There were 62 in attendance.

We would like to state here that any Hoo-Hoo member in the area is invited to attend any of our golf tournaments that come along.

Rex Spencer of the Texas Forestry Association was one of our recent guest speakers.

OPERATIONS MANUAL

Your club president has an Operations Manual which was made up at great expense and labor by the International officers and staff. It consists of 16 sections—eight pertaining to International and eight pertaining to the local club.

In the local club half of the manual there are suggested guidelines and job descriptions for club officers; a section on club administration, Concats (including the new accepted ritual; A section on Operational Aids; a section on the LOG & TALLY magazine with our publication policy, News Report Form and our deadline dates; a section on wood promotion activities and a section on the organization of new and inactive clubs.

In the International half of the manual, there is a table of contents, a list of items available, a history of Hoo-Hoo, Articles of Incorporation, International by-laws, Duties of International officers, and coming soon—a complete section on how to organize an International convention.

If you, as an individual member, aspire to office in your club, you should study this manual. It will help you immeasurably.

The manual was sent to your club president last Spring, and it should be handed down from president to president each year. If your club president doesn't have a manual, write to this office and we'll tell you who has one in your club:

Hoo-Hoo International
1420 Providence Highway
Norwood, Mass. 02062

Additional copies of the manual may be purchased for only $10.00 each delivered (except Australia).

If you are the club publicity chairman, you will find the club news report form a great help in reporting your club's activities to the LOG & TALLY.

If you are already a new club officer or director, ask your club president for the manual so that you can read and study it. You'll find a lot of new ideas that will help you run your club. Also, if you have any questions pertaining to the manual or, if you have any questions about club activities in general, write or call the International office.

The manual is an 8½ x 11" looseleaf format with a sturdy 2" looseleaf binder. As more ideas are prepared for the manuals, they can be inserted easily. Also, if there are any changes to be made in the future it will be a simple matter to remove the old pages and replace with the new pages.

Honolulu

Club #142

Honolulu, Hawaii

The Honolulu Club elections were held on July 21st at the Oahu Country Club. The newly elected officers are: Tad Ogi, President; Jim Lovell, V.P.; Howard Chong, Secretary; Danny Uekawa, Treasurer, and new Board Member, Darrel Takahashi.

Special guest was Richard Cook of Richard Cook Development whose entry in the annual HBAH "Parade of Homes" won the "Best Use of Wood" award which is sponsored by the club. Also participating in the festivities was Gordon Scott of Portland.

Tad Ogi was the program chairman and he was assisted by Andrew Ching and Darrel Takahashi.

Then in August, 27 Hoo-Hoo members, their families and friends took to the seas on the ship "Hawaii State" for its annual sunset dinner cruise along Waikiki. Over 150 attended this event. With a gorgeous sunset, calm seas and twinkling lights of Honolulu and Waikiki for backdrops and a delicious dinner, a little "catnip" and music to round it all out, it was a grand evening. Enjoying the cruise with our members were Brian Tutton, his wife Patsy and their children—all from Australia.

Washington

Club #99

Washington, D.C.

Since our May meeting and elections, the New Board and the Old Board of Directors met during the summer on two occasions. June 2nd's board meeting was devoted to the selection of a Vice Gerent Snark, the programming of Past Presidents nite, selection of convention delegates, and to contact Hoo-Hoo International for a list of members in the Baltimore Hoo-Hoo Club so we could send them an invitation to our September Golf Outing.

Much time was spent at the August 25th Board Meeting preparing dates and activities for the upcoming year and the creation of a "Washington, D.C. Hoo-Hoo Club #99 Lumberman of the Year" award. Details of this award have not been finalized as of this date.

#99 kicked off their season September 21 with 73 members, guests, and free loading Past Presidents in attendance. Paul Deible, Chairman of Past Presidents Nite, was able to pull together 19 Past Presidents, including notables like J.A. Porter #46499 and Willie Church.

Willie Church gave a brief talk concerning the rise of Club #99 since he was club president in 1931. Following his talk, he was immediately drafted into being the installing officer for the installation of officers for the '77-78 season.

The day's golf outing was again run by our club pro, Harold Hershey, who had 42 contestants in his tournament. Low gross was won by Bob Lucas who shot a 78 and low net won by Paul Kerns with a 72 score.

The high lite of the evening was the presentation to Joseph Leckert #45794, an award of "Appreciation" for his many years of devotion to Club #99. Joe commuted from Florida to this meeting for acceptance of this special award.

Meeting concluded with 50-50, won by Jimmy Richards and door prize going to President Howard Jesnick.

Club #71

Buffalo, NY

The Buffalo Hoo-Hoo Club #71 has announced its new officers for the 1977-1978 year. They are: Frank Kosiur, President; Charles Johnson, Vice President; Michael Lischer, Secretary, and Victor Lichtenthal, Treasurer.

The officers were installed at the annual Concat on October 19th. Bob Armstrong will serve as publicity chairman for the coming year.

In July the Buffalo and Rochester Hoo-Hoo Clubs combined for a "Night at the Races." Eighty Five racing fans gathered in the club house for dinner and exciting (for some) races. It was apparent that some of those fans who came out on the winning side were not at the track for the first time. The clubs presented a silver tray to the winner of one of the races sponsored by the Hoo-Hoo Club.

The club recently held its 7th annual scotch doubles Bowling Night, and scores ranged from the 60's to the 190's. Several prizes were awarded at the dinner following the event. Twenty two couples participated in the bowling and they were all glad to be there instead of being outside in the rain.

Willamette Valley

Club #33

Eugene, Oregon

Beautiful sunny weather greeted the many visitors from out-of-state to the 36th annual Willamette Valley Golf Tournament and fun fest. The golf tournament, sponsored by Club #33, has become a tradition with lumbermen from all parts of the United States and Canada. Many tie in a visit to a number of sawmills located in the Eugene area.

This year we had 260 golfers and served over 400 for dinner. On the day before or the day after the tournament, some of the members gather up a group for a smaller tournament on the Tokatee golf course located a few miles from Eugene on the scenic McKenzie River.

Will Marshall gives a putting lesson to Jeanne Huffman, our girl on the registration desk.

Low Net: (1) Bob Angeline (2) George Champion (3) Mike Upton.

Callaway: (1) Chuck Darling (2) Norm Buoy (3) Bob Cooper (4) Si Rodakowski (5) Ted Fullmer (6) Harry Johnson.

The prizes were high quality golf shoes, shirts, sweaters or take your pick of the golf shop. Long drives and K.P.'s were rewarded with three golf balls apiece.

You could try your hand at the chipping contest on the patio—win a little side bet and/or go for the first prize, a portable TV set. Golf balls were given away as prizes for the putting contest.

Dick Tutt was the program chairman for the day, and he was assisted by Charley Willett, John Hallberg, George Litzenberger and Will Marshall.

The Willamette Valley Club #33 held its annual Crab Feed and Trap Shoot at the Cottage Grove Rod & Gun Club last May 20th.

A bright sunny day, a good crowd and all the dungeness crab and beer you could eat and drink.

John DeMarco, Jr., with help from John Huston and Ron Weiss, goosed up a special batch of his now famous hot sauce with absolutely breathtaking results.

The Trophy trap shoot involved 50 clay birds at 16 yards and included experienced and novice classes. Jim Freeman took first place in the experienced class with

John DeMarco, Jr., placing second. John DeMarco, Sr. placed first in the novice class with Jerry DeMarco coming in second. Approximately 55 members attended.

John DeMarco, Jr. was the day's program chairman and he was assisted by John Huston and Ron Weiss.

Cowichan Valley Club #229

Duncan, BC Canada

In mid-August the Cowichan Valley Club's Directors travelled to Lake Cowichan to hold their meeting. The meeting was held at the residence of program chairman Dave Hanson 71545. It was a most relaxing evening and much thanks goes to the Hanson family for the enjoyable evening.

During the evening plans were made to hold our annual "Fishing Derby" and our fund-raising dinner in November.

Jim Lambert 82231, our Wood Promotion chairman, reported that Jack Foord was the winner of the C.O.F.I. grading trophy. The award is presented annually to the grader who attains the highest lumber grading mark when writing for the first time. Jack's mark was 86.9%, and club #229 will present him with the award next month.

Mr. Munro, who took time out of his busy schedule to talk to our club, is presently in the midst of negotiating a contract for over 28,000 union members.

Mr. Munro gave an outstanding presentation. Several local mayors attended the meeting as well. Club #229 members and guests gave hearty applause to local IWA union official, Ed Linder, who recently retired after 28 years of service with the union.

Dave Hanson was the program chairman for the evening, but the important thing to remember is that the club got local newspaper coverage from two papers and one radio station. It was a good turnout with 150 members and guests in attendance.

Nutmeg Club #199

Hartford, Conn.

Nutmeg Hoo-Hoo Club #199 held its first meeting of the year Tuesday the 13th of September at the Cabin Restaurant in Meriden, Connecticut.

Election of offices were held and those elected are: Bill Lowery—President. He is with the W.G. Glenny Co. of Manchester, Connecticut. Archie Dworman — Vice President, and Fred Dunne—State Deputy Snark— Both are with General Building Supply of East Hartford. Lou Porrello, Treasurer and John

Dean Dodson, Stu MacDonald, Mike Carter and Ted Saunders are about to be "milled in transit."

Interest is also increasing on the club's November weekend in the Catskills. That is to be held Friday the 11th of November through Sunday the 13th.

The Willamette Valley Club #33 held its annual Crab Feed and Trap Shoot at the Cottage Grove Rod & Gun Club last May 20th.

A bright sunny day, a good crowd and all the dungeness crab and beer you could eat and drink.

John DeMarco, Jr., with help from John Huston and Ron Weiss, goosed up a special batch of his now famous hot sauce with absolutely breathtaking results.

The Trophy trap shoot involved 50 clay birds at 16 yards and included experienced and novice classes. Jim Freeman took first place in the experienced class with

John DeMarco, Jr., placing second. John DeMarco, Sr. placed first in the novice class with Jerry DeMarco coming in second. Approximately 55 members attended.

John DeMarco, Jr. was the day's program chairman and he was assisted by John Huston and Ron Weiss.

Cowichan Valley Club #229

Duncan, BC Canada

In mid-August the Cowichan Valley Club's Directors travelled to Lake Cowichan to hold their meeting. The meeting was held at the residence of program chairman Dave Hanson 71545. It was a most relaxing evening and much thanks goes to the Hanson family for the enjoyable evening.

During the evening plans were made to hold our annual "Fishing Derby" and our fund-raising dinner in November.

Jim Lambert 82231, our Wood Promotion chairman, reported that Jack Foord was the winner of the C.O.F.I. grading trophy. The award is presented annually to the grader who attains the highest lumber grading mark when writing for the first time. Jack's mark was 86.9%, and club #229 will present him with the award next month.

Woodworkers of America regional president, Jack Munro.

Mr. Munro, who took time out of his busy schedule to talk to our club, is presently in the midst of negotiating a contract for over 28,000 union members.

Mr. Munro gave an outstanding presentation. Several local mayors attended the meeting as well. Club #229 members and guests gave hearty applause to local IWA union official, Ed Linder, who recently retired after 28 years of service with the union.

Dave Hanson was the program chairman for the evening, but the important thing to remember is that the club got local newspaper coverage from two papers and one radio station. It was a good turnout with 150 members and guests in attendance.

Detroit
Club #28

Detroit, Michigan

Club 28's June meeting was a well attended get-together featuring lage, inexpensive drinks, large inexpensive buffet dinner, lots of shop talk and good fun for 70 members and guests. Also, there was a very informative film on energy—energy problems which the lumber industry will be living with and helping to solve for years to come. A very fine meeting was put together by Mike Tomlin and his committee.

Our annual meeting, held as usual in August, featured the election of club officers and directors for the Hoo-Hoo 1977-1978 year. It was held at Plum Hollow Country Club. We had a good turnout of our 60 club members.

The officers elected were: Jim Peterson, Vicegerent Snark; Joe Dewey, Jr., President; Geroge Poulos, Vice President, and Gordon Graham, Secretary/Treasurer.

Our out-going President, Jim Peterson, took this occasion to present awards to some of the hard working club members for their jobs well done. The recipients were: Bob VanEvery, Jim Riley, Pat Carmody, Gordon Graham, Jack Gillespie, Matt Lewis and Lynn Gresham.

It was a very fine meeting with serious business transacted. As a "Thank You" to out-going President Jim Peterson, Bill Graves, on behalf of the club, presented Jim with a beautiful new rifle and carrying case, and many thanks for a job well done.

Our new president, Joe Dewey, Jr., was well received, especially by his father, Joe Dewey, Sr., a past president of our club. Talk about a proud father—WOW!

Our new president, Joe Dewey, Jr., accepts the responsibilities of his new office.

At this time the Vancouver Club would like to challenge some of the other clubs to race in this event and see which club can win.

Our annual Pancake Breakfast was held as usual this year in August, although the weather was not the best.

Several of our members attended the convention in Portland and stated that it was a real fine convention.

The Vancouver Club wishes to thank Snark Bill Bader who stopped in Vancouver and spoke to all the directors of the club about some of our problems and the best way to solve them.

Sioux Valley

Club #118

Sioux Falls, SD

The Annual Hoo-Hoo Stag was held by the Sioux Valley Hoo-Hoo Club #118 on August 18th at Sioux Falls, S.D. with over 100 in attendance.

A golf tournament was held at the Elmwood golf course with 54 enthusiastic golfers showing up to play. Larry Defoe of Sioux Falls won the trophy.

The trap shoot was held at the Izaak Walton League club house. First prize was won by Pete Homan from Remsen, Iowa. The raffle prize was won by Gay Hageman.

Members grilled their own steaks on an outside grill, and although some of them may have been a little too pink, everyone enjoyed himself.

Twenty-five door prizes were given away.

Club #12's new president is the popular Roy Hagner, 75446.

Twin Cities

Club #12

At Club #12's recent election and dinner night, the following officers were elected: Roy Hagner 75446, President; Cliff Taylor 53838, 1st V.P.; Bill Zirmer 51250, 2nd V.P. and Mike Scherer 80095, Vicegerent Snark.

Following the election and dinner, a program on fishing was given by instructors of the IN Fishing School in Northern Minnesota. Many slides were shown on how to catch the big ones.

Here are just a few of the North Cascade Club #230's members who caught salmon on the June Westport fishing trip. Beautiful weather and a fine time was had by all.

N.W. Montana

Club #187

Kalispell, Montana

The N.W. Montana Club #187 held its annual Wood Products Seminar August 12th and 13th in Kalispell. In the afternoon some went golfing and those not golfing went rafting down the North fork of the Flathead River.

This was an unusual and beautiful trip on a great sunny day. Jim Groschupf of Plum Creek Lumber Co. hosted a cocktail party that evening at his home and this was a poolside event enjoyed by all. A dinner followed at Club Rocco, Hungry Horse with about 145 in attendance.

Saturday the weather changed and the golfers at Whitefish Golf Course were well drenched after nine holes. A cookout scheduled for White fish Lake had to be held in the shipping shed of Plum Creek Lumber Co, but this did not affect the fine meal prepared by Norm Schield - an excellent beef tenderloin, potato salad, sweet corn on the cob and all the liquid refreshments needed.

This event is attracting people from all segments of the industry. Tom Partridge L-45201, was on hand to represent International. Wholesalers from Portland, Great Falls and Spokane were on hand for a most enjoyable weekend.

A computer here "converts" logs to lumber without turning a single saw blade.

Columbia River Log Scaling and Grading Bureau doesn't mill logs—it measures them.

Calculating how much usable wood product can be made from millions of trees logged each year is such an enormous task and involves so many numbers that the company relies on an IBM System/370 Model 125 computer to handle the job.

Last year, for example, the bureau "scaled" (measured) 21,677,000 logs which were estimated to produce 6,167,000,000 board feet of lumber.

The bureau is used by logging companies which operate on government land and are required by law to employ an impartial firm to validate the amount of timber taken.

It also is used by companies which don't have their own scalers and by other firms which want to lend authenticity to their reports for tax purposes. Taxes are paid on removed timber.

The bureau has more than 200 scalers working at 29 stations along highways in Oregon and Southern Washington and on location at participating lumber companies.

Scalers measure the length, diameter and top (small end) of the logs, calculate deductions for defects and indicate grade and species. The figures—five or six for each log—are written in machine-readable style on a ticket which is then sent to the bureau's data processing center in Eugene.

Approximately 5,000 tickets, each listing about 10 logs, come in to the computer center daily, according to Data Processing Director Norm Graves.

The tickets are placed in an IBM optical character reader which records the scalers' handwritten reports at the rate of 20 per minute and feeds the information to the main computer. (An operator deciphers "unreadable" characters. The device also can identify individual scalers and indicate which numbers are not written in the machine-readable style.)

The computer, using a special formula, converts the figures into board feet of lumber and prints reports indicating the grades and species of logs, gross and net board feet and log count. Other reports, involving cubic measurement, inventory, sales, deliveries and comparative data also can be produced.

Scalers in the Pacific Northwest have to be more highly skilled than those elsewhere in the country, according to Marvin Knutson, bureau manager.

The bureau is a non-profit organization comprised of participating companies. Its board of directors consists of representatives from the companies, the U.S. Forest Service, the state of Oregon and the state of Washington.

Dear Cliff:

Mail Bag

It is not often that I write a memo and give it a title, but I will this one, i.e., "MUSCLE."

Over the past number of years I have had the privilege to associate with many influential people in our industry all over the U.S., but in particular the western area. Many times during this association the subject of Hoo-Hoo would come up and I determined that a great number are Hoo-Hoo members but are not active. Some were "drop-outs" and too, others are not interested in joining. Most all stated that Hoo-Hoo should have more of a purpose than Health, Happiness and Long Life.

I recall several years ago that Eric Canton of Minneapolis proposed that clubs get active in local, state and federal issues that affect our industry. Again, most all of those I have associated with propose the same activity.

There is just so much legislation that directly or indirectly affects all of us. Hoo-Hoo with 7,800 members—that's a lot of "MUSCLE."

I am sure that should Hoo-Hoo become active in legislation on all levels that executive, management, etc. would again become active and encourage their employees to take an active part.

Hoo-Hoo could become active in grass-roots "MUSCLE." Mr. Ralph Hodges, Executive Director of the National Forest Products Association in Washington, D.C. could advise Hoo-Hoo International on all Federal and most State legislation of concern to our industry. He many times furnishes a standard or form letter or wire that could be distributed by the International office to all local Hoo-Hoo clubs which, in turn, could run off copies and distribute to members requesting them to take action. I am sure you would be surprised at the number that would do so if furnished guidelines.

If this suggestion were put into effect and highly publicized in the industry, I can see Hoo-Hoo membership growing by leaps and bounds. NOMINATIONS!

Dear Cliff,

With a great deal of pride and sincerity, Detroit Hoo-Hoo Club #28 respectfully submits our own Robert VanEvery as nominee for the office of 2nd Vice-President for the Hoo-Hoo year 1978-79.

"Bob Van", as he is known throughout Hoo-Hoo Land, has been Supreme Nine Member for Jurisdiction II for the past four years. He has served his Jurisdiction with great dedication and great ability. Jurisdiction II has progressed steadily these past few years under the guidance of Bob.

Prior to his Supreme Nine duties, Bob had served as President of Detroit Hoo-Hoo Club #28 with great distinction. A life member of Hoo-Hoo, Bob owns his own retail lumber yard in Farmington Hills, Michigan. He has known nothing but lumber all his life and has become a success through good old-fashioned hard work.

We feel these same qualities will enable Bob VanEvery to perform as 2nd Vice-President in an exemplary way to the further betterment of all Hoo-Hoo.

Sincerely and Fraternaly,

Good Potential For Alaska

Interior Alaska's commercial forest lands, regarded as marginally productive and unsuitable for growing and harvesting timber crops, may have far greater potential for meeting the world's wood needs than current data reveals.

Speaking today before a symposium on high-latitude forestry at the University of Alaska, W.D. Hagenstein, Executive Vice President, Industrial Forestry Association, said that recent studies of Alaska's interior forests have been short on data and long on impressionism. Yet this highly tentative data is used to justify Congressional wilderness proposals that would forever defer an accurate

Dear Cliff,

On behalf of Detroit Hoo-Hoo Club #28, may I propose as nominee for Supreme Nine Member for Jurisdiction II, Gordon Graham, L-70604, for the Hoo-Hoo year 1978-79.

Gordon (Mickey) Graham has been an extremely active member of our Detroit Club for many years. He has served through the ranks of the Detroit Club i.e., member of Board of Directors, Vice-President, President and is currently serving his third term as Secretary-Treasurer.

Gordon has also served on many committees during the past five or six consecutive Hoo-Hoo conventions he has attended.

We heartily endorse Gordon Graham for Supreme Nine Member—Jurisdiction II.

assessment of the areas forestry potential, he said.

"Finland has forest resources which in many respects are like those in interior Alaska and despite their relatively low biological productivity they are the economic basis for a reasonably prosperous economy," Hagenstein added.

The forester went on to say that interior Alaska's 22½ million acres of commercial forest land has an average growing stock of 634 cubic feet per acre, as compared with Minnesota, which only averages 574 cubic feet. "Interior Alaska consists of 14¼ billion cubic feet of growing stock which could support at least 10 pulp mills of 500 tons per day capacity. Compare that with Minnesota which has a growing stock of only 9.8 billion cubic feet and supports nine pulp mills plus many sawmills and other wood-using plants," he said.

Although Hagenstein acknowledged that it will be some time before intensive forestry can be practiced in interior Alaska, he said the lands should be extensively managed, with harvest, reforestation and ade-

After lunch, we continued our tour of the city with a ride through the Transit Mall whose wide roads, it was noted, were constructed for bus usage alone. Our guide also pointed out the attractive fountains on the walks of the mall which had been donated by a Mr. Benson and thus named after him. Benson, an early lumberman, had positioned these fountains to relieve his thirsty lumberjacks when they came down from the hills, and this bit of ingenuity, it was said, cut down considerably on the men's drinking habits at the bar.

Tommy Putnam receiving from Anna Dugan, one of the many door prizes given out at the ladies luncheon.

Another interesting lumbering tidbit comes from the term "Skid Row" a section of the city which we passed along the way. Though the people of Seattle will argue that the term originated in their city, our guide insisted that not only did it originate in Portland because of their squalid district of vagrants and derelicts but also from Portland's early days of lumbering quate protection against fire. He said he was shocked to learn that a million acres annually have been burned over in the last three decades for lack of adequate protection.

"The whole point is, don't write off a potential resource by consigning it to unprotectable wilderness without making much more detailed studies than anyone has to date," he declared.

INTERNATIONAL DUES STRUCTURE

Let it be known that by recently approved by-laws changes, International's annual dues are as follow:

REGULAR RENEWALS.....	11.99
REINSTATEMENT (any member who is unpaid for one year or more).....	11.99
Plus Reinstatement Fee.....	5.00
TOTAL	16.99
NEW MEMBERS Annual Dues.....	11.99
Plus Initiation Fee.....	10.00
TOTAL	21.99
LIFETIME MEMBERSHIP (Never again to pay International Dues).....	$199.99

In spite of soaring costs, Hoo-Hoo International, in comparison to similar organizations, has been able to keep its dues down to a minimum. And we will continue to do this as long as economically possible.

when logs were "skidded" down from the hills to the water below to be driven away to the mills. For those who would like to read more on the subject, and perhaps settle the argument, it was mentioned that there is a book out entitled "Skid Row" which was published in Seattle (author unknown at this writing).

Our next stop was the very beautiful and inspirational Sanctuary of Our Sorrowful Mother, a magnificent shrine whose heart is The Grotto, an exact replica of Michelangelo's Pieta, set up 125 feet in the mountainside and surrounded by ferns, flowers and towering firs with soft music playing in the background. No matter what religious background one happened to hold, the peace and awe of these surroundings seemed to overpower all who were privilege to experience it.

As the sun was setting and a feeling of peaceful satisfaction beset all we returned to the hotel after a full and beautiful day touring a very beautiful city.

Thank you once again, Portland ladies, for a most enjoyable convention experience!

BROUGHTON LUMBER CO. FLUME

FLUME: "A chute or trough for carrying water, used as a source of water power to convey logs, etc." (Funk & Wagnalls Standard College Dictionary).

In 1913, for the first time, 30 sec. feet of water was released from an earth filled dam on the Little White Salmon River to start its nine mile journey one thousand feet below, where it would return to the Columbia River in approximately 55 minutes. In the meantime this volume of water transports rough sawn lumber (cants), not logs, from the Broughton sawmill at Willard, Washington to its remanufacturing plant and shipping point at Hood, Washington on the BN Railroad.

The flume was originally started about 60 years ago for the purpose of transporting lumber from various mills in the Willard and Mill A Flat area to the railroad at Hood. It is not known how this was accomplished, because as a practical matter it never happened. Broughton Lumber Co. acquired the stock of the Drano Flume Co. before the flume was actually completed.

The trough itself is generally constructed of two inch Douglas Fir because of its durability. Construction procedure consists of starting with a 2 x 14" x 16" board with a Tongue on one side and square edge on the other, or in place of the groove. The flat side is then mated with the same kind of a board, which is 12", instead of 14" wide, to form a 90 degree angle. By continuing up each side with 2 x 12" tongue and groove boards, the trough is completed. As such, the trough should measure approximately three feet on each side, and three and one half feet across the hypotenuse. This will make water run about two feet deep.

Inside the trough, a "V" is placed. This V is made by cutting diagonally through a 4 x 4", 6 x 6", 8 x 8" or 10 x 10" which is then installed point down with flat surface up. This will then allow any sinkers to slide along the bottom without causing the lumber to jam or stop flowing. In addition, the V keeps the lower part of the trough from wearing out too soon and helps prevent leaking.

The trough then rests in a 4 x 6" cedar bracket, which is supported by three 4 x 6" x 18' cedar stringers. The stringers in turn, rest on a 6 x 6" cedar cap which is supported by 6 x 6" cedar legs cut on a slope (batter) of 8" for every 24' of length. These flume parts are made of cedar because of its ability to withstand the rotting action better than fir. Completed, the above group of lumber comprises a section (bent) which is 16' long. Generally this 16' flume section will last from 15 to 20 years in a relatively level area. However the same type of section in a steeper area may be exhausted in a year or two. Several of the steeper curves are therefore lined with metal in order to prolong the life of the trough. The flume is made out of wood in this manner so that if a rock or slide should strike the flume, it would destroy only a section or two, leaving the rest undisturbed. A flume constructed entirely of metal would encounter much more extensive damage in the event of a large slide.

A warning system, consisting of a seven volt line, runs from a bell system at Hood to a dumping system four and one half miles up the flume along the bluff, where the water is dumped into Drano Lake in the event of an emergency. This is done because the water crashing into a break may wash away more of the hillside than a small slide. Generally, however, water is left in the flume at all times, because lumber submerged in water will not rot as quickly as lumber allowed to become wet and dry intermittently. "A 12" walk board running along the entire nine miles of the flume enables any portion (usually the lower four and a half miles) of flume to be patrolled once a week. Special calk boots (sharp points worn on the sole of a boot) are worn when the flume is patrolled. The patrol is made on Friday afternoon so that any reported damage may be repaired over the weekend.

Flume damage is indicated by the warning bell, and/or the obstruction of the lumber flow or excess water spillage. In the event any of these things should occur, a systematic search, with the aid of radio control, is immediately undertaken to find the source of trouble. New flume is constructed by using a small quantity of water to transport new material to the damaged area. Infrequently, snow and ice accumulates on the side of the flume, resulting in ice jams, which in turn cause the mill to be shut down.

The flume in time was eventually finished, and is presently used by Broughton Lumber Co. It is capable of transporting between 40/50 million board feet of lumber per year. Generally, lumber of 32' and longer is hauled to Hood by truck. The remaining lumber is still transported by flume for the reason that trucking the entire production would be more expensive. The lumber is automatically placed into the flume by chains, so there is no loading cost to speak of, but there are two men stationed at the lower end of the flume to see that the lumber is taken out in an orderly manner. No one is on constant patrol.

This flume was featured on Channel 8 TV; a full length Lassie TV program; part of a Walt Disney movie; Life Magazine; Argosy Magazine; Ford Times, and countless other newspaper publications. This flume has proved to be a remarkable invention, and as such, has done many remarkable things.

Compliments of Broughton Lumber Co., Underwood, Washington 98651, May 1, 1973.

N.E.W. Club #238 Colville, Wash.

On September 15th, 1977 our club got off to a good turnout and a lot of enthusiasm as to the future activities.

Officers elected were as follows:

Gene Kinder, President
Wayne Vaagen, Vice President
Cliff Holstine, Secretary-Treasurer
William Brauner, Director
Steven West, Director
Robert Haney, Director
Palmer (Bud) Vaagen, Director
Donald Moskeland, Director

Special Committees

Floyd Pitts, Publicity
Chairman
Bill Schauls & Paul Christian
Chairmen of Special Activities

Congratulations to the co-winners, Mrs. Steven West and Mrs. Robert Haney for suggesting our selected club name. They were voted honorary members.

Mrs. Bill Schauls was our first winner of the cash drawing.

Our meetings will be held the third Thursday evening (7:30 p.m.) each month at Bernie's Restaurant. Get-together and dinner will be at 6:30.

Let's make this a Hoo-Hoo club of activities.

Through Hoo-Hoo—a United Lumber & Wood Industry.

North Idaho

Club #155

Coeur d'Alene, Idaho

The North Idaho Club held its first meeting of the new Hoo-Hoo year on September 15th in Coeur d'Alene. The members were brought up to date on various club activities, and President Mason reported very favorably on the International convention, from which he had just returned.

R.L. Bemis 83443, was installed as the new Club President; W.P. McCarty 84236, as Vice President, and C.G. Krueger 62636, continues as Secretary/Treasurer.

Winners of the "Woodman of the Year" competitions will be guests of the club in October, and will be given their trophies.
